A Day in the Life . . .

By Saro Iskenderian
Green Years Staff

WESTWOOD, MA - 6:45 a.m.

It is Monday morning, the dreaded hour in every high school student's week. The weekend is never long enough to satiate the desire for sleep that every student feels and this is evident in the typical Monday-morning ritual. After slapping off his or her alarm clock for the third time, our student lurches into the bathroom for a quick shower. The student, hoping that the steaming water will revive him or her, stays in the shower far longer than necessary, forcing the student into a sixty second dressing frenzy before inhaling breakfast. The student manages to acquire some money for lunch and attempts to fix that last out-of-place hair just in time to make a 50-yard dash to a heap of iron and fiberglass which our student calls an automobile. On the other side of town, a different student performs a similar ritual, which includes a slightly longer 100 meter sprint to the bus stop. Both students carry an array of supplies ranging from basic writing utensils to athletic equipment. As the clock approaches 8:00 a.m., cars begin to fly into the student parking lot, narrowly avoiding inanimate objects such as lightposts, sidewalks, and freshmen. Buses pull into the upper driveway of the school, weaving their way around the cars of parents dropping off sons and daughters on their way to work. Teachers and other staff members also make their daily pilgrimage to the school in what most suspect is a routine not unlike that of the students. No matter what his or her mode of transportation, most students manage to arrive at the school moderately alert and in one piece.

7:48 a.m. Students stagger out of the cars and buses that pull up to the Westwood High School and enter building to be educated. They proceed to their lockers to drop off their jackets and bags and to pick up books for the first block. The cafeteria is crowded with breakfast eaters and the library is populated by half-awake students putting off their trip to homeroom as long as possible, for entering homeroom more than five minutes before eight is unheard of.

Cries of "What day is it?" and "Does anyone have an extra pencil?" echo through the halls. The group of cigarette smokers that coalesce across the street from the school begin their daily trek to the building. As the clock creeps toward eight o'clock, the hallways drain and students enter homeroom; the last straggling half-conscious students sprint through the hallways in an attempt to avoid becoming victims of the School Committee's new attendance policy.

8:00 a.m. Homeroom bell rings signifying the beginning of another day in high school. Mr. Flaherty's guttural voice comes through the loudspeaker. "Please rise for the Pledge of Allegiance . . .", and then the eternal moment of silence.

As everyone begins to sit down, one of the four student announcers—Peter Mao, Andre Beaulieu, Liz Murphy, and Brendan Hanlon—begins to read the news of the day, which includes items that range from announcements of Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) meetings to

"I don't know what it is. At five minutes of eight, no one is in homeroom, but at one minute of, everyone pours in."

Lara Mazzola

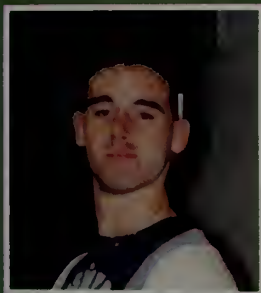

announcements of a Senior class trip to Idaho (?), and, of course, "All students on the call list please report to the office."

During this period of ten minutes, incredible amounts of "homework" are completed by students rushing to meet first block deadlines.

Underclassmen get off the bus to begin their day at WHS.

“The thing that I remember most about physics is Mr. Toplian's impersonations.”

Brian Narciso

“Not only am I the hair club president, I'm also a client.”

Mr. Topalian as Sy Spirling

8:10 a.m. The first of seven blocks begins. Much to the disappointment of the Senior Class, the previously utilized eight day schedule was replaced in 1989 by a new alphabetical schedule, depriving the upperclassmen of the opportunity to confuse the freshmen. Days at Westwood High School have numbers, not the traditional names used everywhere else. Green Years suspects this may have been done by the School Committee in an attempt to prevent students from realizing when weekends arrive. Though most WHS students drag themselves to their first classes, a select few have the privilege of having a private sitting with Vice Principal Charles Flahive. The waiting room outside Mr. Flahive's office, completely furnished with a very comfortable aluminum bench, is a popular gathering place for the school's most unlucky students. The first block typically goes by quickly; most things do when one is asleep.

9:00 a.m. The first block has ended and the student body begins to awake from its slumber. The halls are filled with chatter about the events of the weekend. Stories about being pulled over by the legendary Westwood Police Department are interspersed with news about the latest concert or an infamously raucous party. Any student who may happen to wander toward the guidance office is greeted by what is sure to be a long line of college-bound seniors attending to the various tasks of obtaining recommendations and transcripts for prospective schools.

Just down the hall, the last late-arriving students trickle through the front door and check in at the front desk purporting excuses that range from car trouble to kidnappings.

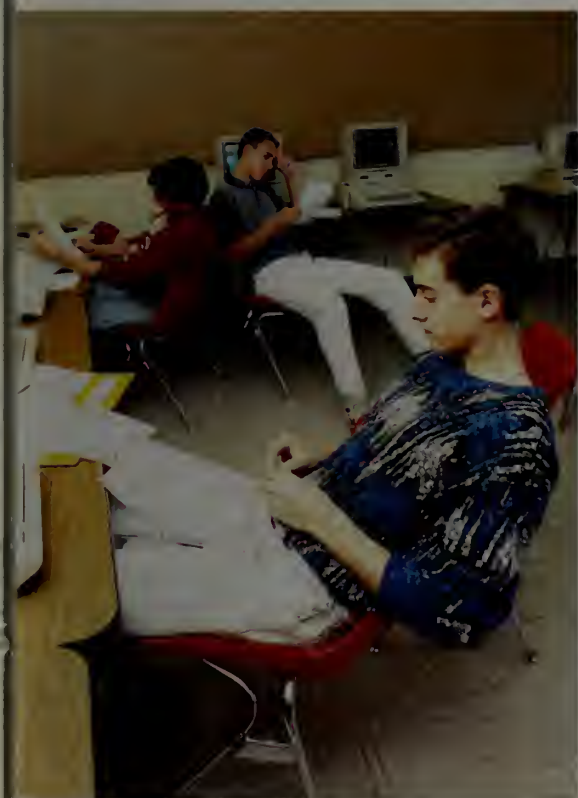

These excuses are usually ignored and the students are cautioned that "two tardies result in one absence." Any students lucky enough to have either the first or second block free can often be found eating a hearty breakfast of coffee-cake, bagels, and donuts in the school cafeteria.

9:55 a.m. The late morning seems to drag on forever, particularly on Mondays. One student declares, "I can't believe it's only the third block," while another student states, "I wish it was lunchtime." This is an attitude widely held throughout the school. For the duration of the pre-lunch block, students' eyes focus on the clocks, all of which are slow.

The distinctive sound of stomachs growling pierce the silence of the classrooms and hunger and anticipation can be seen in students' eyes. The seconds wind down, 5 . . .

4 . . . 3 . . . 2 . . . 1 . . .

Eric Dreyer watches anxiously as he runs a program for the first time.

Senior Michael Collins lets it all hang out during lunch. By the way, Mike, what is that?

Kristen Keller and John Lee sit at the front of the cafeteria to recruit students to participate in the Key Club's Blood Drive. This year's drive was a great success.

Senior girls enjoy their lunch in the crowded cafeteria.

11:20 a.m. Finally, lunchtime arrives and war-torn students go to nourish themselves with the almost gourmet food prepared by the cafeteria staff. The lunchlines, which extend into the neighboring hallways, tend to swell at the front with all-powerful seniors flexing their lunch-priority muscles much to the dismay of the lowly underclassmen. In 1989 the price of a student lunch rose from the traditional dollar to a dollar twenty-five. Although this price increase was justified, it nevertheless caused a decline in the speed and efficiency of the cashiers. The menu at Westwood High School is varied and, in addition to the scheduled meal, a special a la carte service is offered. From this line, students may choose such delicacies as chicken nuggets and potato puffs. Some favorite standard meals include spaghetti and meatballs, turkey and gravy, and chicken pot pie. The wait for these particular dishes is particularly long.

12:05 a.m. Students who have last lunch hurry to the cafeteria to purchase meals before the lunch staff close for the day. The gym is a popular place for students who like to shoot hoops or "hack" until the next block begins. During lunch, students get a chance to relax for a few precious moments and catch up on backlogged assignments and other everyday student tasks before the beginning of the second half of the school day.

“On the first day the spaghetti is good. On the second day, it is edible. On the third day it proves the theory of abiogenesis.” David Sceppa

12:35 p.m. The end of lunch block arrives and the block which follows is primarily devoted to digestion. This block is probably the most bearable of the day but nevertheless, students become restless.

1:30 p.m. All productivity has stopped. The last block of the day always seems to be the longest and students tend to get a head start on their night's sleep. Fingers and pencils tap incessantly on the graffiti-covered desktops, and all eyes are riveted on the clock. Any degree of concentration on schoolwork has disappeared as all thoughts rest solely on weekends, past and future. Teachers also seem to be slowing. Their nerves tend to fray due to a lack of effort on the part of their students. They, too, dream of summer vacation away from the classroom. One such teacher, when questioned on this issue said, "Get out of my face, kid. I'm trying to go home and annoying students do not a speedy departure make!" As the day winds down, students begin to discuss their plans for the afternoon until, finally, the golden hour arrives.

Lisa Sullivan

2:15 p.m. The rush to leave school is slowed only by the commitments of many students to after-school activities and sports. The gymnasium and the athletics fields fill with energetic young Olympians practicing their sports. Perhaps one reason why Westwood High School's athletic program has proved so successful is because of the dedication of the Wolverine athletes. One student athlete, when asked to comment on the long practice hours, replied, "It's really worth it. There's nothing like working really hard at something and then finally getting it. I guess that's what winning is all about—hard work." Another Wolverine stated that winning at WHS is "a tradition." The gym and the practice fields are certainly not the only areas of the school where student effort results in high rewards. The school building itself also remains a center of activity for the numerous groups which meet throughout the week. Ranging from the Math Team to Safe-Rides, these groups work toward a multitude of goals to improve the school, better society, and boost school morale. These activities serve as a binding force among the students at Westwood High, a force which teaches students camaraderie, sportsmanship, leadership, and trust. These qualities will play an integral part in the futures of all the students of Westwood High, and the community of Westwood High bonds students together in a manner which will last for ever.

"In your face!" says Missy Angelicchio to Chris Layden and the rest of the boys who went down in the Powder Puff game.

DEDICATION

Mr. Thomas Brown honored by Class of 1990

Class Day, June 1:

When I think of this year's Green Years' dedication recipient, I think of other past teachers. Socrates . . . he said that "there is only one good, knowledge, and one evil, ignorance." His protege, Plato, advised us that "the direction in which education points a man will determine his future life." Abraham Lincoln . . . he taught us that "truth is generally the best vindication against slander." And Albert Einstein, once said that "our defense is not in armaments, nor in sciences, nor in going underground. Our defense is in law and order." Today, on behalf of the entire graduating class, I would like to dedicate the 1990 yearbook to a person who emulates these maxims and follows the tradition of these great teachers.

To our recipient: It is essential for me to address two areas of accomplishment in which we have all seen you excel. The first involves your achievements in educating students at Westwood High School, while the second relates to the tremendous support you have given to the advancement of teachers in Westwood and throughout Massachusetts.

It is very easy to think of the contributions you have made towards the enhancement of both the education and futures of the students here at Westwood High School. As an educator, you taught us invaluable skills and knowledge that we will take with us when we enter the next chapter of our lives. Your methods of teaching are truly masterful. We longed to be treated as adults; and, indeed, you treated us with respect while molding us into conscientious and responsible people. Through your encouraging words and positive attitude, you made us feel we were the best, and your amazing college recommendations certainly let admissions officials know it. You genuinely care about our well being and we appreciate it.

The second point I wish to address is your commitment to your colleagues in the Westwood school system. There has been a lot of talk lately about the shortage of good teachers in the United States. There has been little talk, however, of the shortage of recognition for the many excellent teachers we do have. Teaching is a difficult yet important job and you have been outstanding in helping teachers receive the recognition they deserve. On the local level, you served as president of the Westwood Teachers Association and as chief negotiator three times. Currently, you are serving as chairman of the Professional Standards Committee of the Westwood Teachers' Association, which provides a vehicle for teachers to express professional concerns and a means of resolution. Similarly, you served as a chairman of a sub-committee during the ten-year evaluation process of Westwood High. Furthermore, your contributions have touched teachers at a state level through your service on several caucus committees for the Massachusetts Teachers' Association. Unselfishly, you have given a tremendous amount of time and energy for the maintenance of high school professional standards for your fellow educators.

In summary, I'd like to express my warmest thanks and sincere appreciation on behalf of the Class of 1990. I consider myself lucky to be in the position to extend a very heartfelt dedication to a person who has helped my classmates and me understand the world we live in a little better while also contributing, in no small degree, to our preparation for the future. Therefore, it is with our deepest gratitude that we, the Class of 1990, dedicate Green Years to you, Mr. Thomas Joseph Brown.

CENTRAL ADMINISTRATION

Demanding year for School Committee

The School Committee, Dr. Robert Monson, superintendent, and Mr. Leo Crowe, assistant superintendent, had an extremely busy year. The new direction for the school system, as presented in "Preparing for the 21st Century Report," was started at the beginning of the school year. A five-year period of implementation is projected. WHS administrators, staff members, and students were part of hundreds of hours of voluntary work in preparing and setting new goals for WHS.

This year also saw a change in the make-up of the School Committee. Mr. Glenn Harkness, a three-term member, decided not to seek re-election. Mr. Harkness expressed his appreciation for working with such "mature committee members" throughout his tenure. He said graduation day every year caused him to "swell with pride" as he saw the end result of what the School Committee works so hard for. Mrs. Karen A. Coffey was elected to fill his slot. Westwood High had its own representatives to the School Committee: Stephanie Schonmetzler, who represented student issues, and Mr. Peter Geary, who represented teacher issues.

ADMINISTRATION

TO THE CLASS OF 1990

As your year draws to a close and I reflect upon it, I realize that this class was probably the most active, concerned and united class which we have had in the school for many years.

Leadership in your class was found in many places. Members of your class founded a chapter of Amnesty International, conducted a Program for the Homeless, and engaged in a great program of Peer Counselling. In this way, students in the class showed a real concern with the problems of the world at large, our American society and our own community. The fact that a high school class would spontaneously generate enthusiasm and support in these areas augurs well for the future. I congratulate you and wish you all well in the individual careers you choose. We shall miss you.

Sincerely,

Phillip F. Flaherty

MY CONGRATULATIONS AND BEST WISHES TO THE CLASS OF 1990!

It has truly been a privilege working with so many fine and caring individuals. You have all certainly enhanced the reputation of Westwood High School and your community through your many athletic and extracurricular achievements.

In reflecting back over the past four years, I especially remember the dedication to your school and others far beyond the limits of Westwood. This class constantly displayed a caring and compassionate feeling so vividly reflected through such activities as the South Carolina Relief Fund Raiser, recycling programs, and several projects to aid the homeless and make us all aware of the plight of the poor. School spirit reached an all time high with such activities as the Spring Fling, Homecoming, Color Wars and several successful dances and assemblies. I certainly will never forget the "corridor decoration" project for our Thanksgiving Day activities!

You are well prepared, your skills are honed and you carry the spirit of Westwood wherever you go in the years ahead. I wish you all happiness and best wishes.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

The Guidance Department has perhaps the most time-consuming and hectic responsibilities. Under the direction of Dr. William Pendell, the department members handle students' schedule adjustments, college paperwork, and personal needs. The staff organized higher education night, SAT preparation information packets, and check-off lists for colleges. They also arranged for college representatives to visit Westwood High. Without their support and assistance, our years at Westwood High School would not have gone by as smoothly. The Class of 1990 welcomes Mrs. Mary Levangie, and thanks her for replacing Dr. Hogan so efficiently and capably. Special thanks also to Scott Goldman, METCO coordinator, and Mrs. Lorraine Brinton, Westwood High School's psychologist. English

English Dept. has style and classic pursuits

By Saro Iskenderian
GREEN YEARS STAFF

George Bernard Shaw once said, "Those who can, do; those who cannot, teach." Shaw certainly never saw the English Department at Westwood High School. The teachers in this department can and do! The English Department remains the core of the high school education and the faculty here provides some of the most passionate and intellectually stimulating courses in the school. Ranging from Mythology to 20th Century Literature, the English courses at Westwood High School teach students the basic skills needed to survive in the world of academics. However, a Westwood High English education far surpasses the grammar and rote vocabulary memorization often associated with this subject. The members of the English Department inspire their students through literature and creative writing and make studying English a truly dynamic and exciting endeavor. Green Years would like to thank Dr. Terrence Earls and the rest of the English Department for its guidance and support. Math a necessity for success

By Judy Fitzgerald
GREEN YEARS STAFF

The Math Department at Westwood High School offers courses ranging from algebra to calculus. The courses challenge the students to apply previously acquired knowledge to everyday life. Mr. James Pender leads a team of teachers devoted to helping pupils grasp mathematical principles. Students are exposed to word problems in order to connect their studies to real life situations. One student believes, "All the things I learned in math did not mean anything until I realized that they have a definite impact on life outside—as well as inside—school." The student body extends its gratitude to the Math Department for helping them to realize a strong foundation in mathematics is a necessity for success.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

Under the direction of Dr. John Griffin, Westwood High School's Science Department instructs students in fundamental and theoretical areas of science. With the assistance of several dedicated teachers, students are given the opportunity to discover different techniques associated with science. Knowledge is gained through both classwork and laboratory experiments. The labs are designed to be entertaining as well as informational as they help students to grasp various scientific concepts. Throughout the year students may be found making candy canes, dissecting fetal pigs, and conducting laser shows. The faculty strives to cover all aspects of science because some students choose their courses according to future career interests. Other students take science courses to balance their curriculum. As one student claims, "Although science will not directly relate to my career, I feel a general knowledge of basic concepts is necessary." Almost every Westwood High School student agrees the subjects offered by the science department will impact their future studies. Members of the Class of 1990 appreciate the time and effort the faculty has contributed to their overall education.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

In a year where the world was greatly changing, Westwood High School adopted a new course to cover current events. The course, Global Issues, was taught by Mr. Don Buerman. It incorporated historical content into a current events format. The History Department, led by Mr. Thomas Brown, offered many other exciting and demanding courses. As our door to the world, the history department served its role well. Students learned a lot about history and life in general in courses ranging from Ancient and Medieval History to Comparative Government to Psychology. The high point for most students was A.P. U.S. History course and Miss Congdon's challenging American History. Green Years would like to thank all the members of the History Department for enlightening us with their bountiful knowledge.

Under the direction of area coordinator Mrs. Elaine Doucette, the Foreign Language Department completed yet another year of comprehensive courses in Spanish, French, and Latin. Reading, writing, speaking, and listening are the fundamental skills which the department emphasizes. The French and Spanish Homestay Programs provided a chance for ambitious students to speak their foreign language in an international setting as well as exposing them to the great times that travel can offer. Madame Doucette's oral drills and Mr. Ducheneau's "Hola's" in the halls will never be forgotten.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

From the decoration of humdrum hallways to the jazzing-up of plain library walls, the Art Department plays an important and highly visible role in the school. The talent of aspiring artists in Westwood High has been nurtured under the guidance of an outstanding art department. Each month, students and faculty alike enjoy displays of the students' works of art. The student body won't forget the avant-garde drawings of Mr. Milan's classes, the woodcuts and oil paintings by Mr. DelSignore's students, and the ceramic masks and clay self-portraits created by Mrs. DesPres' pupils. The Class of 1990 owes much to these teachers who have expanded our horizons beyond junior high "vanishing points" and "cartoon characters."

Music hath charm at W.H.S.

GREEN YEARS STAFF

You don't have to be a budding Beethoven to take advantage of the music curriculum at W.H.S. Under the inspired direction of Mr. James Guirleo and Miss Frances Trisorio, students can take classes that range from music appreciation-which does not require any musical talent or training- to orchestra and string classes. Of course, for the most dedicated music students, an A.P. course in music theory is offered. Due to the efforts of students who have participated in music and to the superior guidance of Mr. Guirleo and Miss Trisorio, W.H.S. has continued to produce a successful chorus, double quartet, and marching band. Many thanks to the Music Department for bringing music into our school and into our lives from the Class of 1990.

Special Services

School helps students help themselves.

The Special Services at Westwood High are an important facet of student life. Under the direction of Mrs. Susan Bornstein, the department provides the necessary assistance for those students requiring supportive services. Through the help of its patient and caring staff, Mrs. Carole Rosengarten, Mrs. Anna Runci, Mr. David Walsh, Mrs. Carolyn Harvey, and Mrs. Ann Mullen, the Learning Center has become an essential component of WHS. Offering help with learning skills for those requiring assistance, they help students keep up with their standard studies. The self-contained program, under the guidance of Mrs. Ann Matteson, and assisted by Mrs. Susan Scales, has provided academic and personal needs not met by the school's curriculum. In the Resource Room, staffed by Mrs. Jeanne Connolly and Mrs. Mary Messina, students are provided with a highly-individualized program. Remarks at the SENIOR CLASS BANQUET:

It is not often that a school is fortunate enough to have a teacher dedicate himself to a school and its students for thirty-four years. Oftentimes this type of teacher is not fully recognized until the end of his professional journey; but in Mr. George Hancox's case, he has made his years a special journey for Westwood High and its students for more than three decades.

Mr. Hancox has taught in Westwood High School since 1956. He is a quiet, methodical man who has always been respected by faculty members and students alike. Because of his thorough knowledge of the English language and his preciseness, many other English teachers at Westwood High would approach him with questions of their own. Mr. Hancox became the "go-to" man for teachers who needed any kind of analytical or grammatical help.

Mr. Hancox is also a well-rounded individual who sings in the St. John's choir right here in Westwood. He also was one of the first teachers at Westwood High to use a personal word processing computer at home. He then brought his knowledge of the computer to our school and helped establish the English Seminar Room as we know it.

During his many years at Westwood High School, Mr. Hancox has left beautiful memories. He has always been so free and helpful with his ideas, easy to approach, so full of insight and wisdom and ever the gentleman. Thank you for being our teacher and friend.

Mr. George Hancox

... and GOOD LUCK

Miss Priscilla J. Congdon

Miss Priscilla Congdon was a dedicated teacher in the Social Studies Department at Westwood High School since 1967. Prior to that, she taught at the elementary and junior high levels in Westwood. Students and faculty members alike will always remember her for the high standards she always set for herself and her students, the work ethic she displayed to the very end of her career and consistently cultivated in her students, and her compassion, concern, humor, ethical behavior and friendship that marked her both as a teacher and a person.

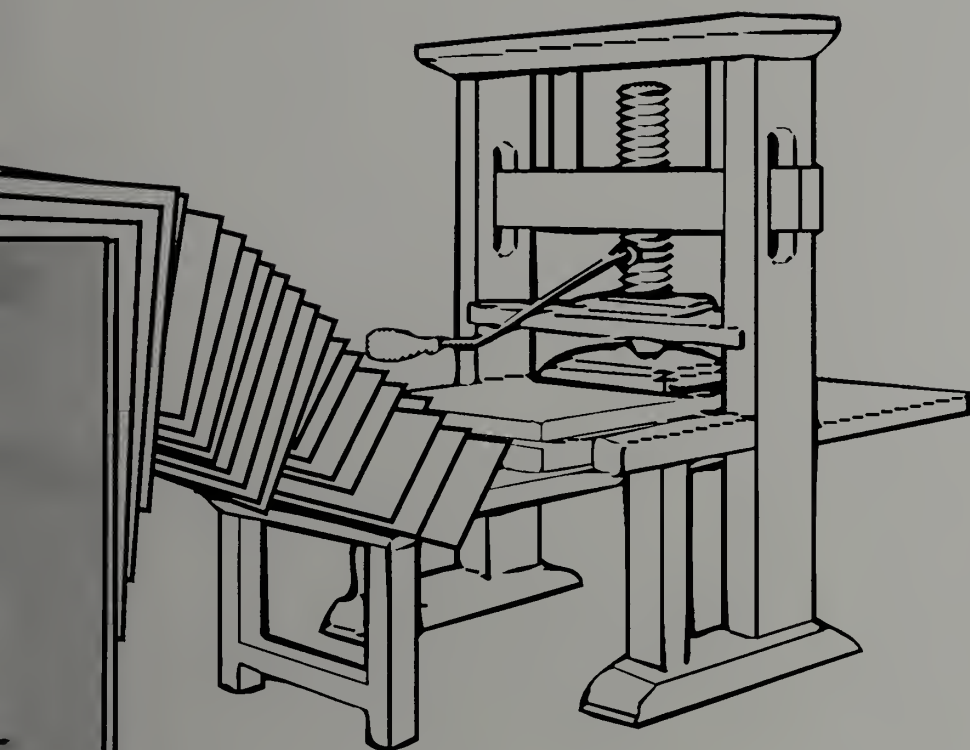

Mr. Thomas E. Nelson

Remarks at the SENIOR CLASS BANQUET:

Mr. Thomas Nelson has been an enthusiastic and dedicated faculty member for twenty-three years. Upon coming to Westwood High School in September of 1967, Mr. Nelson, over the years, has taught wood shop, cabinet making, metal, electronics, drafting, and most recently graphic arts. During his years here at Westwood High School, Mr. Nelson has maintained a low-key and private profile. Because of this type of nature, we often failed to recognize his many contributions. Whenever some type of emergency arose, Mr. Nelson stood ready to lend a helping hand. For instance, when the senior class play needed help with props, he was there; when the boosters needed equipment repairs, he was there; when the Athletic Department needed help with various athletic set-ups, he was there. In short, Mr. Nelson was always the first to assist. When Westwood High School was faced with the possibility of closing the graphic arts room, Mr. Nelson willingly took on the task of learning to run the press and trouble-shoot the equipment. He was also responsible for building a photography darkroom in the wood shop area and he introduced the art of photograph development and printing to a number of students. Many students who have passed through our school since 1967 will have fond memories of this reserved gentleman and his many meaningful years at Westwood High School.

Wolverines Show Determination

Our captains for the 1989 season were Tom O'Leary, Walter Boehl, and Brett Jacobsen. Guiding us and coaching us was our head coach Eric Wilfinger, who was assisted by Paul Carrol, Marty Conley, Sean Hill, Bill Lagos, Bill Crabtree and Mike Mulgrew. Who will ever forget the double sessions, hitting the sled in 90 degree weather, practices in the gym and parking lot and six shutouts in a row??? How about our wolf-practice hero, Walter and his high-five's . . . Stats, Seka??? Our season ended with the selection of Walter Boehl, Marcus D'Espinosa, Brett Jacobsen, Ray Ilg, Paul Campanelli and Tom O'Leary as TVL All-Stars.

CHEERLEADERS

Go, Team, Go!

This year's cheerleading season may not have been one of the best, but we did have fun and lots of good memories! We enjoyed cheering at the games, participating in the pep rallies, and trying to boost school spirit. Thanks to our coach Amy Guindon for all her help and to those fans who helped us cheer. Good luck to future squads.

BOYS' SOCCER

Soccer Kicks High

This year's Boys' Varsity Soccer Team faced a difficult task, losing nine varsity players over the summer. Coach Rich Scafati possessed the league's best defense with three Daily Transcript All-Stars—"Snake" McDermott in net, Stephen Brady at wing fullback and captain, and TVL All-Star Dave Sceppa at sweeper. Tom Shepherd and Captain John Lee also contributed greatly on "D." The offense, though missing Captain Michael Karafotias, showed flashes of brilliance behind juniors Paul Higgins, Mark Karafotias, John Lee, and Josh Steinfeld along with Captain Jason Keller. Westwood helped build a future with sophomores Matt Prout, Dave Baggeroer, Aaron Piazili, Himanchu Patel, and freshmen Matt Keller and Andy Hughes. The team gained league-wide respect by tying powerhouses Medway and Dover-Sherborn while beating lesser teams such as Millis. Losing only three starters, next year's team may make the tournament. Season's highlights included He-Man's injury, Tom's Vic Flip, Dizzy Higgy, Shoo Goo, "Why won't you talk to me?" Seymour Bunz, The Place, the telephone ref and diving headers in the mud.

GIRLS' SOCCER

Girls' Soccer Makes Comeback

After surviving a week long torture of double sessions, the 1989 Girls' Soccer Team began its season. Though the team started off slowly, by the end of the season it had either tied or won eight games in a row, eventually knocking TVL rivals out of tournament play. The team never gave up hope and continued to try throughout the season. Most importantly, Mr. Niles' help and dedication made the season a memorable one. Good luck, Seniors!

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

All The Way To Semifinals

This year's volleyball team had a strong season, finishing as semi-finalists in the TVL tournament with a record of 14-7. Under the guidance of Coach Chuck Klemp, Tri-Captains Kara Cooney, Megan Winslow, and Nell DeAngelis, the team was led through yet another adventurous season. Highlights of the season included a tough scrimmage against Chelmsford, our heartbreaking losses to the state champions Medway, and the ever-exciting bus rides.

The seniors would like to wish the Wolverines the best of luck next season (Beat Medway!) and thank Chuck and Darlene for all their hard work.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Team Shows Drive

To many people's surprise, we had a strong season under the guidance of our coach, Stefan Kohler. We struggled the year before, but the returning players had a better attitude about the 1989-90 season. We began the season at 4-1 and played strongly the rest of the way - finishing at 13-7. We qualified for the state tournament for the first time in five years and compiled more wins in one season than the program had in the previous three years. We also had three managers this year who ran the book, compiled statistics, and videotaped our games. Both of the White twins, Pat and Mike, and Chuck, were appreciated this year for their hard work and humor. The seniors all feel they accomplished a major goal this year in qualifying for the tournament, and we hope next year's team goes even further - good luck!

Someone tell Dave Halperin to lose those running shoes and that cheesey "Descente" jacket . . . Has anyone hired a baby-sitter yet? Because we have a list of do's and don'ts: no leg-lifts, no grabbing the rim, no dribbling - do bring a crying towel, a new challenge for DH (Rossi, Spaeth, and Abbott weren't enough), and an extra seven seconds.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Undefeated Season For Girls' Basketball

Well, the Wolverine girls did it again! Under the coaching of Tom Hughes, we went through another season in the Tri-Valley League undefeated. We started the basketball season off as classmates and by the time the season ended, we were all close friends. We were a unified body with great team spirit. Highlights of the season included a non-league game with Everett, where we learned to play like "street rats," the Channel 5 debut at Hopkinton, and the clutch win against Case, which moved us into the South Sectional Semifinals against Oliver Ames. The team thanks Mr. Hughes and Mr. West for all they've done and we wish next year's team the best of luck! Keep the streak alive! We'll miss ya'!

Hockey Team Skates To Tournament

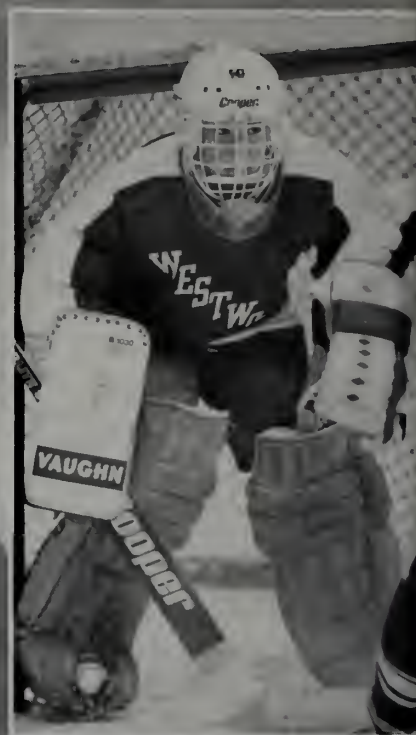

This year's team was one of the best ever at W.H.S., rocketing out to win its first eight games before losing to Dover-Sherborn and breaking the string of thirty-five straight games without a loss in the Tri-Valley League. The team captured its seventh straight league title, making it a very successful season. Having played all Division I and II non-league games and gone undefeated and with a good nucleus coming back, next year's team is the favorite for the Division III title.

GOLF

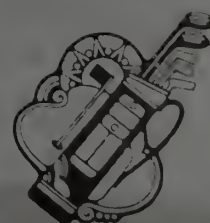

Golf Team Gets In Full Swing

With only one senior this year, we were a very young team. However, we captured the Tri-Valley League title with a 13-1 record. One of our strengths this year was that we had five or six kids who could score well and this helped the team tremendously. We got off to a great 7-1 start and cruised the rest of the year. We lost the Westwood Cup this year to Xaverian but with Andy Fink, Bob Guindon, Brian Hardiman, Tim Harrington, Andy Gozzo and with help from up and coming freshmen and sophomores, next year's team should retake the cup and win TVL again. Good luck! Thanks, Mr. Kodzis!

BOYS' SWIMMING

Westwood Swimming On The Upstream

The '89-'90 season was the most successful season for the Boys' Swim Team for the past five years. Michael Collins, Jeff Patterson, P.K. Swimmers Have Successful Year

This year's Swim Team was led by Captains Avida Setayesh and Rita Guarino. The team had a 3 win and 8 loss season but this record certainly does not indicate the kind of success the swimmers reached this season. Senior Kara Murphy contributed greatly on the relays and the challenging 100 yard fly. Junior Co-captain Avida Setayesh improved her time in the 100 yard breast stroke. Rita Guarino, our other Co-captain was a hard worker in the 500 and 200 yard freestyle races. Heather Bartold and Kelly Clark improved tremendously throughout the season. Nicki Leonard became stronger and stronger throughout the season in the 50 and 100 freestyle races. Kelly Hess was a spirited and greatly improved swimmer during the season. Our final junior Carolyn Flaherty contributed great cooperation and spirit as she swam difficult races such as the 500 free style all season. Sophomores Trish Malloy and Laurie Schreiber were second year swimmers who also did an outstanding job all season. Denise Farren, sophomore, was excellent on our relays and Jen Barsamian, sophomore, had a great season scoring regularly in all her events. Lynn Santopietro, sophomore, was our only diver and was outstanding all season. Jen Connors, sophomore, was one of three swimmers who qualified for the South Sectional Championship. Eileen O'Day, freshman, joined the team late in the season and immediately made a great impact. This season, two freshmen, Wendy Rowe and Donna Guglielmi, fulfilled that dream of all coaches. Donna won 19 of her 22 races this year. She also qualified for the State Championship in 5 events, held the school record in the 100 Fly and was a member of the Record Setting Relay Team. Donna completed in the Sectional Tournament and the State Tournament. Wendy Rowe had a dream season. She won 21 of her 22 races in dual meets; she broke 5 individual school records and was a member on the record setting relay team. She was the South Sectional Champion in the 200 Free and the 500 Free and was a recognized force in the State Championship, finishing 2nd in the 200 free and 2nd in the 100 Free. These two races were the highlight of the State Championship, both being decided by hundredths of a second. Coaches Bill and Maryellen Riley thank all the swimmers, their parents and friends for their support. A special thanks to Dr. Joseph Gearon for helping us through our first season. This is just the beginning of success for Girls' Swimming!

BASEBALL

Baseball Team Hits Hard

The team started off with an impressive 6-1 through a total team effort. Unfortunately, Coach Downes' squad couldn't match these efforts in the second half of the season. The ball never seemed to bounce the Wolverine's way as they lost several close games and were robbed of a tournament bid by rain. Co-captains Tom O'Leary and Brett Jacobsen stood out as they led the team in nearly every category. This year's edition of Westwood Baseball Always had a great time as they showed the rest of the TVL their unparalleled enthusiasm. Tennis Team Shows Guts

The Boys' Tennis Team, lead by Captains Gregg Dixon and Marc van Zadelhoff and first year coach Dan Damish, again clinched sole possession of second place. We suffered our only two losses to Dover Sherborn. Dixon (11-3), van Zadelhoff (14-1) and Andy Halsted (10-4) played first, second and third singles respectively. Despite some variations, Bill Hall and Chris Walter (6-4) played first doubles and the young, sophomore duo of Mike Dowd and Chris Blomquist rounded out the team at second doubles. Unfortunately, we couldn't pull off a win in the first round of the state's tournament against Arlington. However, the season ended on a high note with the two captains and the first doubles team being selected at TVL All-Stars; in addition, Halsted was chosen as honorable mention. Next year's team has their work cut out for them with the top four players graduating; but with the talent which the underclassmen displayed this year, Westwood should remain a power in the TVL. The seniors would like to thank Coach Damish for his time and dedication and wish next year's team GOOD LUCK! . . . and remember . . . "Do it for Tony!"

GIRLS' TENNIS

Girls' Doubles Outstanding

Second year coach Rena Lieberman and Tri-captains Liz Murphy, Kara Cooney, and Amy Friedman led the Girls' Tennis Team to a 14-2 regular season record. Though they relinquished the TVL title to their arch-rival Dover-Sherborn, the girls went on to post season play, where they eventually fell to a very strong Lynnfield team. The girls' achievements were recognized as follows: the first doubles team consisting of Kara Cooney and Amy Friedman, and the second doubles team consisting of Marlene Buckley and Lynn Santopietro. They were also named TVL all-stars with Westwood's first singles player, Liz Murphy, named as this year's league MVP. The Daily Transcript recognized members from the team as well.

Memories: "Who's bringing the drinks today?", Dianne's "garment" problems, the BH fan club, "should we have our banquet with the boys?", Amy Z's incriminating prom pictures, the bus ride home from the Bishop Fenwick match, Mrs. Lieberman's teenage romance stories.

GOOD LUCK NEXT YEAR, GUYS.

1990

GREEN YEARS

Green Years production
a success; another vintage year.

In a year when newspapers told of unprecedented events in the world, WHS's Class of 1990 made headlines of its own. We were recognized as scholars, athletes, authors, artists, and leaders in the press throughout the state. We, the yearbook staff, thus felt it was only suitable that our book reflect the class's involvements with and contributions to the school and community. Therefore, we picked a newspaper motif as the 1990 Green Years' theme.

Work on the yearbook began during the summer before our senior year as several staff members spent a fun-filled week at "yearbook camp" in Rhode Island. With the beginning of the school year came the organization of the staff with Co-Editors Liz Murphy and Saro Iskenderian taking charge of their crew. Work on the 16-page color section began immediately and was top priority until just before the end of December. We hope we captured the beat and flavor of our school. Thereafter, bit by bit, the book was put together by the different section editors. The yearbook staff was indeed a team - each person contributed in his or her respective positions. A lot of time and effort was put into the creation of the 1990 Green Years and that can often be overlooked, especially when the end product finally appears. All of those days of selecting pictures, cropping, typing copy, making layouts, not to mention those meetings with our Jostens' representative Mr. John Neister, definitely paid off. The Green Years staff would like to express its sincere appreciation to Mrs. Fran Petrakos, our yearbook advisor, for her endless energy, help, and support she has given us throughout the past year. She turned what seemed like an impossible vision last July into a reality today. Thanks, Mrs. Petrakos, for making Green Years 1990 "Hot off the Press!"

Memories: "What is our theme anyway? . . . Year-book camp . . . Neister's coming today . . . Does anybody know when the deadline is? . . . Mr. Sandals . . . Sorry, I can't come to the meeting this afternoon - I've got to work . . . We don't have any pictures for this! . . . Who's that babe? . . . Don't worry, it will all come together."

Recycling huge success

Student Council's goals this year were to promote school spirit through social events and to promote social awareness. To accomplish these goals, we held the following events:

In October, Homecoming Week began with the Halloween Dance featuring the Mr. Westwood High School pageant. Each day of that week, students and faculty dressed according to themes: Hat Day, Color Code Day, and of course, Green Pride Day. The week ended with a Pep Rally and Halftime Show.

To keep the spirit alive through Thanksgiving, Student Council sponsored the infamous wall decorating contest. Each class poster, streamer, ballooned, and painted their assigned hallway. By a narrow margin, the Senior hallway won. As the weather grew warmer, Student Council helped sponsor Spring Fling Week and Color War. The Red Team, Blue Team, and Black Teams battled it out for the most school spirit at the dance, lip sync, Patriots' basketball game, pool party, and volleyball tournament. With high attendance polls, tee shirts, and posters galore, the Blue Team proved victorious.

Student Council's first major effort to raise social awareness was the recycling program. The recycling of styrofoam trays and plastic cups has now become a habit for students and staff. The success of the program at the high school soon spread to the junior high and elementary schools where Student Council members enjoyed teaching younger students about the benefits of recycling.

A second social awareness activity was the homeless program for juniors and seniors. The program, "A Day in the Life of a Homeless Person," consisted of a documentary, a simulation, discussion, speakers, and letter writing to politicians. Social awareness is crucial, but it should result in legislation in order to be completely effective. Therefore, Student Council and the school administration sponsored a voter registration for eligible students. Eighty out of a possible eighty-five students registered.

As the year came to a close, we held elections. Students entered the library, checked in, voted for Student Council representatives, Student Advisory Board members, and class officers. This method proved to be realistic and efficient.

Every Student Council member worked extremely hard this year. We would like to thank Mr. Chatterton for being an energetic and supportive advisor and the administration for allowing these activities to occur. And, finally, thank you to each Student Council member.

STUDENT ADVISORY BOARD

Relief fund set up for South Carolina school

The Student Advisory Board had yet another successful year. This year's officers were Stephanie Schonmetzler, President; Laura Christian, Vice-President; Lesley Bride, Treasurer; Kristina Caulfield, Secretary; and Alysia Ordway, Public Relations Coordinator. Junior Stephen McDonald and Senior John Lee were the State Regional Representatives.

The 1989-90 school year began with Hurricane Hugo whipping through the Southeastern part of the United States; and yet out of this mess, through the efforts of Mr. Flahive and Laura Christian, we adopted a sister school, East Clarendon High School in Turbeville, South Carolina, which had been severely damaged. We conducted a relief fund for the school and by year's end, three Student Advisory Board members and Mr. and Mrs. Flahive visited East Clarendon High School, where they were graciously and hospitably received. Hopefully, this is the beginning of a long-lasting association and friendship.

Closer to home, the Student Advisory Board, set up a Student-to-Student Seminar with the help of Dave Sceppa, re-evaluated the Media Center rules, and through the initiative of Kristina Caulfield sparked a volunteer program with the Italian Home for Little Wanderers in Jamaica Plain.

The Student Advisory Board wishes to thank Mrs. Frances Petrakos and Mr. Charles Flahive for their helpfulness and support throughout the year. Their efforts were valued by all.

KEY CLUB

Bloodmobile a huge success

As an organization with participation coming from all four grades, Westwood High School's Key Club achieved much during the 1989-90 year. Designed for volunteer services in all areas, the Key Club successfully organized two Red Cross Bloodmobiles, participated in the German Students' Farewell Dinner, sold carnations for Valentine's Day, and worked on an individual basis with SNCARC, Mentors, and a variety of other programs throughout Westwood. The officers this year, Kate Hennigan, Kristen Keller, Deirdre Little and Lisa McGonigle, and their advisor Mrs. Ann Matteson, are grateful for the strong involvement of its members and hope it will continue in the future.

MENTORS

Students make a difference in Westwood

The Westwood Mentors' Program was established in 1986 as an initiative to involve more actively Westwood's younger residents in the area of needed community services. Through active volunteer service, the Westwood Mentors have been involved with issues such as child sexual abuse prevention, homeless families, supporting single parent families in the community and providing drug-free and alcohol-free social activities for 7th-12th grade students. The program has truly made an effort to reach out to many people in the town. The most rewarding aspect of the program is that it gives students the opportunity to help make a difference in the quality of life in Westwood.

SAFE RIDES

Members devote time to important causes

Founded three years ago due to the concern over drinking and driving-related accidents among students, Safe Rides has had a very successful year. In practice, Safe Rides does not actually address the problem of drinking, leaving the dilemma to other organizations in the community; rather the organization seeks to prevent one of the possible results of this problem—namely driving while under the influence of alcohol. On a given weekend night, four members meet at one of their houses, and via an answering service are informed of any calls from students who need a ride. Over thirty members joined and voluntarily gave up about one weekend night a month for the cause. Each member deserves a lot of credit for their dedication and enthusiasm—both of which were in abundance this year. Thanks to Mr. Charles Flahive for his assistance during the year.

Westwood High School's Students Against Drunk Driving program is one which educates teenage students of the dangers of driving while intoxicated. This year's SADD chapter generated both funds and public awareness through a variety of new and creative activities. In coalition with MADD, this dynamic organization distributed hundreds of red ribbons to the community during the holiday season. Also, this group sponsored an alcohol-free MTV video dance, which proved quite successful, and organized the first annual Meadow Muffin contest, which was held on Olde Home Day, May 9, 1990. The executive board this year consisted of Susan Bogue, Judy Fitzgerald, Kristen Keller, Kurt Johnson, Adrienne Marani, Liz Murphy, Paula Yphantes, and Amy Zouranjian. SADD would like to give special recognition to the organization's advisor Mrs. Linda Hanlon and Mr. Charles Flahive for their time and efforts.

Membership: Michelle Adams, Missy Angelicchio, Heather Bartold, Sharon Becker, Walter Boehl, Sue Bogue, Mandy Bradshaw, Kurt Burk, Kelly Clark, Kathy Close, Chrissy Cocivera, Ellen Conley, Jean Corcoran, Diane Costello, Brian Cox, Karin Croke, Bob Danna, Nell DeAngelis, Tina DiMascio, Scott Dolan, Betsey Earley, Karine Fadum, Denise Farren, Colleen Feely, Judy Fitzgerald, Mary Beth Gadd, Jen Giambanco, Juli Giambanco, Michelle Grueter, Alicia Hamwey, Stacey Hamwey, Bill Hall, Andy Halsted, Kate Hennigan, Doug Hood, Kathryn Hudson, Karen Hu, Nancy Ilfeld, Kurt Johnson, Charles Jurkiewicz, Mike Kane, Kristen Keller, Jean Kerrigan, Alison Kobey, Chris Layden, John Lee, Nicole Leonard, Deidre Little, Kelly Lowe, Nicole Maffeo, Kenna Mahoney, Lou Mallios, Lara Mazzola, Adrienne Marani, Theresa Martin, Kathryn McCarron, Amy McDonnell, Steve McGann, Lisa McGonigle, Suzanne McLaughlin, Sarah Meagher, Julie Messina, Colleen Mullen, Alicia Mullen, Liz Murphy, Jen O'Neil, Tom O'Leary, Jen Peavey, Caroline Prinn, Ron Priore, Lisa Randlett, David Reissfelder, Allyson Resha, Beth Rosenberg, Avida Setayesh, Carolyn Sherrod, Katie Sinnott, Bethany Stuart, Cheryl Suffredini, Michelle Suffredini, Lisa Sullivan, Kelly Susco, Dina Theodore, Lori Thornton, Colleen Towne, Meg Winslow, Jill White, Michael White, Tracy Yobaccio, Paula Yphantes, Amy Zouranjian.

Students discuss drugs and alcohol

The Peer Counseling program allows Westwood High school students to talk to junior high students about the pressures of growing up. This group organized discussions and skits which dealt with topics such as drugs, alcohol, dating, stealing, and cheating. This year, the counselors were allowed to talk to the junior high students more than they had in previous years, thereby adding to the overall success of the program. Faculty advisor, Mrs. Linda Hanlon, deserves a special note of appreciation for her support and dedication.

Store profits go to senior class

The School Store provides various refreshments and school supplies for the student body. Open every day after school and during certain extra-curricular events, the store is the major fund raiser for the Senior Class. The profits from the sales help to pay for the class's special activities and end-of-the year events. Thanks to Mrs. Rosengarten for her help, and good luck next year!

MORNING ANNOUNCERS

Peter Mao

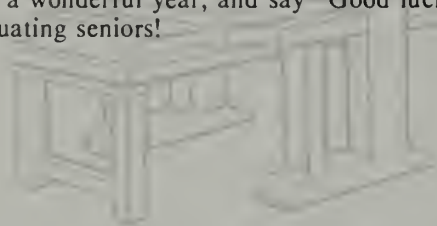

Wake up Westwood High

This year's student-announcer team consisted of Andre Beaulieu, Brendan Hanlon, Pete Mao, and Liz Murphy. They did a great job of getting to school on time every morning in order to deliver "cheerful" and "informative" announcements. Overall, these students did their best to squeeze in the last minute announcements and to read the scrawling handwriting of many teachers. How can we forget Pete's echoing, "Thanks, Andre", Liz's mid-announcement giggles, Andre's blowing into the microphone, or Brendan's hearty, "Good morning, folks"?

DRAMA CLUB

Critics loved "Twain by the Tale"

The Drama Club had a very successful year filled with numerous productions. After the first After-dinner Theater, a collection of short skits called "Fables and Fairy Tales," we began tryouts and rehearsals for the spring performance, "Twain by the Tale." We rounded out the year with a final After-dinner Theater, "Acting 101," which was set up like a college course. We would like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Stephanie Kelsch, for helping us have a wonderful year, and say "Good luck" to all the graduating seniors!

NO PARENTHESES

Spring issue meets deadline

No Parentheses, Westwood High School's only literary magazine, devotes itself to the publication of student literature and illustrations. This year the No Parentheses staff had a hard time judging the annual Poetry and Prose Contest. All of the entries were excellent, but prizes could only be awarded to three or four works in each category. Top prose writers were Shawna Hoban, Maya Khuri, and Melanie Guerra. Ellen Larkin, John Lee, Merrilyn Hener, and Kelly Clark placed in the poetry contest. We would like to thank everyone who submitted his or her writings and artwork to "Westwood High School's only literary magazine." We would also like to give special recognition to Mr. Chatterton, Mrs. Barraza, and Terry Earls for their time, patience, and effort.

Black achievers speak to Westwood High

The Westwood-METCO Program sponsors the Black Achievers Speaker Series, field trips and other activities related to a multi-cultural education. The goals of the Westwood-METCO Program are to provide a quality integrated education for urban and suburban students, while helping to create an open and honest dialogue between students from different racial and cultural backgrounds.

Liz Walker says being different is beautiful

By Jane Huth
The Patriot Ledger

Liz Walker

WESTWOOD — Channel 4 anchor Liz Walker likes being different, but it wasn't always so.

Back when she was a 6-foot-tall teenager at a nearly all-white high school in Little Rock, Ark., Walker hated standing out — a black young woman towering over other students.

But as she grew up, she discovered that different is beautiful.

"Different is the best thing happening," Walker said in a talk before Westwood High School students last week. "Because when you are different, you get attention."

As the only black anchorwoman in the Boston area, Walker gets loads of attention. And last week in the high school auditorium packed with enthusiastic teenagers, Walker was in her element.

Dressed in a black and white sweater and a black miniskirt, Walker, 38, was low-key and informal, joking with students about what it was like to grow up in an era when the only female role model she saw on television was June Cleaver on "Leave it to Beaver" and the only blacks on television were African natives who fell off cliffs in Tarzan movies.

"Every Saturday, Johnny Weismuller was on TV chased by a thousand Africans," she said. "I think it's very important that TV offer more images of African Americans and women."

There should be more blacks, more Hispanics, more older people, more women and more physically disabled people on television, Walker said.

Walker, who has been working in television for 16 years, cautioned the teenagers that although many Americans get most of their information from television, just watching TV news is not enough.

"You are in trouble if the only thing you do is watch TV," she said. "TV only offers you a limited view of what's going on."

Walker urged the students to read as much as possible to expand their understanding of the world.

Walker's talk was part of the Black Achievers Speakers series sponsored by the Metropolitan Council for Education Opportunity, which places minority students from Boston in suburban public schools.

Dina Perry, 16, of Boston, a Westwood High METCO student who lives in Boston, said she was thrilled to have Walker speak in Westwood.

"She's a very positive role model for me," Perry said. "How many other black anchorwomen do you see? She participates in the community. She portrays what a black woman can do."

Robin Morrison, 16, of Pond Street was sorry when Walker's talk was over.

"She was the best speaker we ever had," Morrison said. "She talked with us, not at us."

Walker told the students that being on television is not all glamour, but involves long hours and hard work. She urged them to take their education seriously and keep working hard.

WOLVERINE MARCHING BAND

Band in championship finals

The W.H.S. Wolverine Marching Band had a very successful season this year. The band placed third in Division One of the New England Scholastic Band Association (NESBA) finals held at Boston University. At the end of the season at the banquet, awards were given to deserving members:

Rookie of the Year: Eric Dreyer
Amy Gibbons
Most Improved: Susan Barrington
Nancy Santoro
Best Marcher: Karen Hu
Stacey Hamwey
Most Valuable: Donn Fisher
Merrilyn Hener
Melissa DelConte
Veteran of the Year: Colleen Feely

The graduating seniors wish the best of luck to next year's W.H.S. Wolverine Marching Band! A special thanks to our director, Mr. James Guirleo. Officers were as follows: President-Colleen Feely; Vice-President-Melissa DelConte; Secretary-Juli Giambanco; Treasurer-Donn Fisher.

MUSICAL GROUPS

Talent and practice pay off

The Music Department's Concert Band, Chorale, Orchestra, Double Quartet, and Dance Band have had yet another successful year. The outstanding talent of these groups was demonstrated in several concerts including the Winter Concert and the Pops Concert. Many special events made this year stand out, such as the first annual Arts Festival and the Westwood-Waterford, Conn. Exchange program. Congratulations to the students for such a successful year.

Counter-clockwise from above: Chorale, Double Quartet, Orchestra members, Miss F. Trisorio, Mr. J. Guirleo, accompanist.

MATH TEAM

Team finishes third in the small school division

The Mathematics Team represents Westwood High School in two Mathematics Leagues: The Greater Boston Mathematics League (GBML) and the Southeastern Mass. Math. League (SMML).

The 1989-90 team, led by senior Tri-captains Jay Corbett, Pete Mao and David Sceppa, won the small school division in both the GBML and SMML, finishing 2nd overall in the 24 team SMML and 4th overall in the 42 team GBML.

As a result of winning the small school division in both leagues, Westwood's Math Team was invited to compete in the Mass State Math Team's Invitational Tournament. In the state small school division, Westwood finished third (1st among public schools). In the New England Math Team's Tournament, Westwood finished 5th (2nd among public schools).

Sixteen students competed for Westwood in the Mathematics Team competitions during 1989-90. In addition to the tri-captains, John Lee, Nell DeAngelis, Craig Foster, Chris Babcock, Lesley Bride, Katie Sinnott, Terry Earls, Alison Kobey, Deborah Ringel, Michael Cafarella, Norman Liljesrland, Matt Prout, Diane Costello, and Julie Mao competed.

David Sceppa was the Most Valuable Mathlete (MVM) in the SMML as a result of his outstanding performance all year long.

David Sceppa, Pete Mao, and Craig Foster are all members of the 1989-90 Massachusetts State all Star Math Team and competed at Penn State in June with other state teams from the Eastern United States.

ACADEMIC DECATHLON

Team has very successful year

We won more than we lost and learned more than we knew! One Saturday, eight hours, 3936 multiple choice questions — Aristotle to x-rays-you name it, we knew it! First there was breakfast-mmm, cafeteria leftovers from the last month. The first test, math, okay, but an ellipse? What's this have to do with the sun and moon? Next science-relatively, sure Cousin Joe. Third-social studies, the twenty's. Fine-party time! Fourth-economics, a drachma saved is a drachma earned is a drachma earned. Great! Time for lunch, not so great, more left overs.

SPANISH NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Promotes the study of Spanish

The purpose of La Sociedad Honoraria Hispanica is to promote the study of Spanish and to recognize those students who excel in the language. The major activities of the 1989-90 SHH members included the monthly selling of "helados" in the cafeteria, "Buena Suerte" grams during exams and other occasions, and the tutoring of other Spanish students. SHH also participated in the German Cultural Exchange Program. Many thanks go to Senora Hollis Perry for her hard work and dedication.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

NHS members worked in special projects with children

National Honor Society is a service organization comprised of students who have maintained high academic standards throughout their high school careers. This year, NHS did several projects with children. Members visited Sheehan School and taught fifth graders improvisation, how to create a newspaper, and studied the endangered African rain forests. At Downey School, NHS members helped students in grades 2 through 6 proofread and revise stories in preparation for Young Author's Day in the end of May. Several NHS members also tutored WHS underclassmen in various subjects. President Kristen Keller, Vice-President Michael Collins, Secretary Jennifer Hatch, Treasurer Marc van Zadelhoff, and all of the other NHS members would like to thank our advisor, Miss Dillon, for all of her help this year and wish the National Honor Society the best of luck next year.

Junior Members:

Dr. Earls, guest speaker:

"We are enormously proud of you—you look so beautiful and handsome this evening, but what makes us so proud is that we firmly believe that how you look on the outside reflects how we know you are on the inside. Noblesse oblige . . . To whom much is given, much is expected . . . What do these phrases mean? And how do they apply to those of you being honored tonight? Though you have earned your induction into the National Honor Society by dint of hard work, by perspiration as much as inspiration, just what are your obligations? . . . What expectations do we—staff members and family members, have of you? What expectations should you have of yourselves?"

. . . Of course we expect that you will continue to do well academically—to further your education and to pursue a challenging, satisfying, and worthwhile career. But, academic success is only one of four cornerstones of the National Honor Society. We have numerous examples of successful people in today's society, but how many times is success defined by character, service, and moral leadership? What examples, what guides, can I offer you of these qualities?" . . .

NATIONAL MERIT

Westwood High honored with thirteen students

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation announced on Wednesday, September 13, 1989, that 12 students from Westwood High School earned honors for their performance on the October, 1988, National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Exam.

To earn the status of National Merit Semi-Finalist, a student must earn a qualifying score that places him/her in the top 1/2 percent of the over 1 million students in 19,000 secondary schools that participated in this program. In all, 15,000 students nation-wide earned this status. At Westwood High School we are proud that two students are among this select group:

Peter H. Mao

David E. Sceppa

The qualifying score for Massachusetts this year was set at the highest in the nation, tied with Maryland, the District of Columbia, and the Out of the United States group. The competition for this honor was exceptionally keen this year.

To earn the status of National Merit Commended Student, a student must earn a qualifying score that places him/her in the top 5% of all student participants across the country. In all, 35,000 students nation-wide earned this status. At Westwood High School, we are proud that 11 students are among this select group:

Melissa L. Angelicchio
Michael E. Collins
Judith A. Fitzgerald
Brendan J. Hanlon
Saro P. Iskenderian
Kristen H. Keller

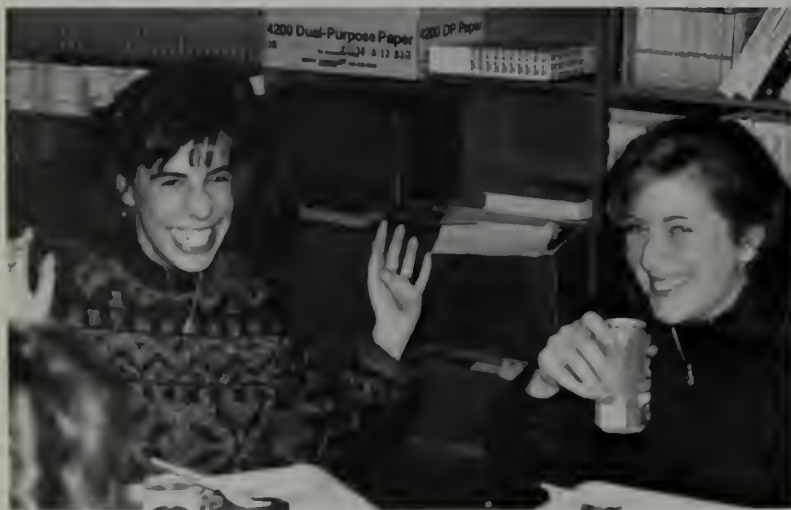

Ellen A. Larkin
James G. McMillin
Stephanie R. Murray

An American in Paris

La Société Honoraire de Français, led by president Deirdre Little, vice-president David Sceppa, treasurer T. Earls and secretary Katie Sinnott, experienced another productive year inducting new members. Ten sophomores joined our elite group. With the help of Madame Doucette and the officers, the music room was once again impressively decorated for the induction. We welcomed Mrs. Diane Rice, a new foreign language teacher at WHS, who spoke at the induction along with Mr. Flaherty. Mrs. Rice had formerly lived in France with her family for several years. We departing seniors, Deirdre, Jamie, Steph, and Dave, would like to thank Madame Doucette for her hard work and dedication this year and we wish the remaining members much luck next year. Dave, see what can happen when you show up at the meetings.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' STATE

Students participate in mock government

During a week in June, 1989, selected students from WHS had the opportunity to experience a week of American politics and government. Roger Hughes, Stephen McGann and David Sceppa attended Boys' State and Laura Christian, Colleen Towne and Jennifer Hatch attended Girls' State. Participation in this democracy-in-action program enabled students from all over the state of Massachusetts to learn about government on the local and state levels through the formation of mock town, city and state governments. Participants were assigned to cities and towns and then proper governments were formed for each. Students then had the opportunity to run for such positions as mayor, town selectmen or school committee members on the local level and auditor, treasurer, or governor at the state level. The students who participated in this educational leadership activity were then able to utilize these new abilities in student government at Westwood High as seniors.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT DAY

Students participate in debates

According to the Massachusetts Bureau of Student Development, which organizes the program, Student Government Day is a "state-mandated program designed to encourage students to learn directly through participation about the structure of state government and a citizen's rights and responsibilities in a democracy." The school elected Marc VanZadelhoff as delegate and Roger Hughes as alternate. As part of the program, a workshop, featuring a state representative and a judge as speaker, was attended where our "legislators" learned of their role on Student Government Day. The mock session of the state legislature was held on April 16, where our students debated six student proposed bills and learned a great deal about the process of making laws. A special thanks to Mrs. Nancy Walsh Saumsigle for her assistance.

DEBATING CLUB

Heated debates on death penalty & abortion

The Debate Club, under the direction of Mrs. Mary Bishop, had an interesting year. We learned the value of discussing and analyzing a topic or contemporary issue thoroughly and the importance of being able to state one's point of view. We debated among ourselves heated issues such as the death penalty and abortion. On the local level we debated the issue of open campus at Westwood High and various sports issues. We had fun!!!! Many thanks to Mrs. Bishop for her help.

PRESIDENTIAL CLASSROOM

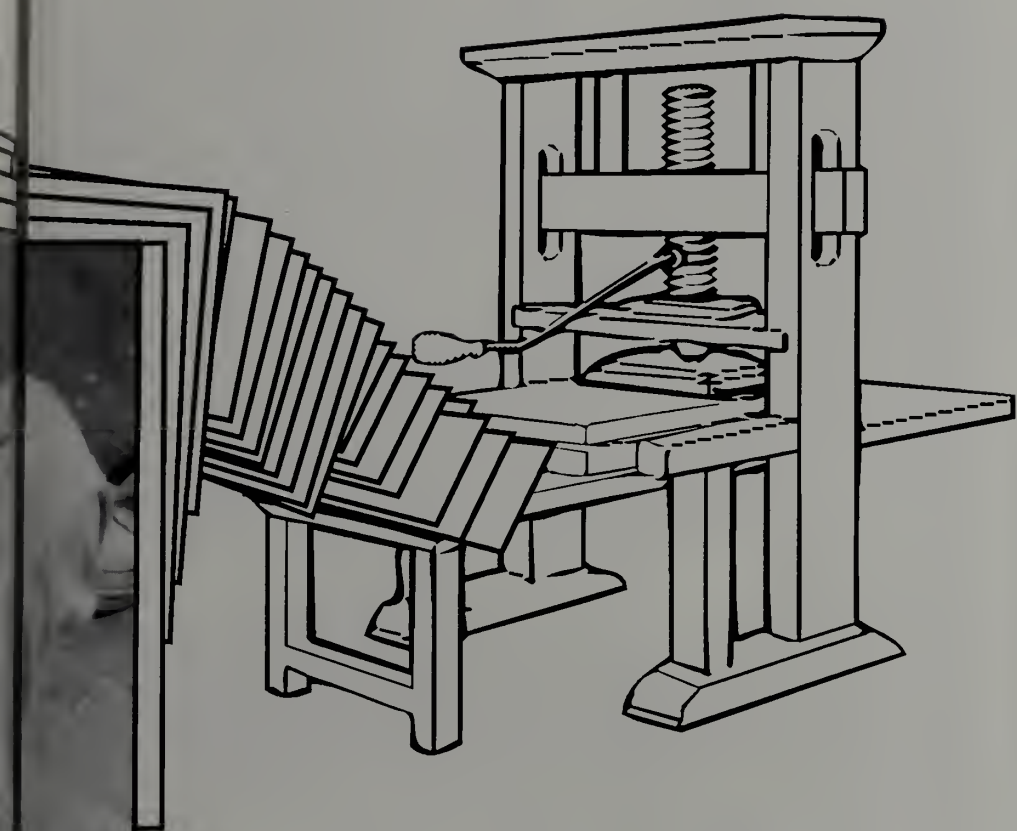

Great learning and exciting experience

Roger Hughes and Michael Collins had the opportunity to go to Washington in February, and there, they met with four hundred politically active students from all over the country. Participants heard speakers such as Caspar Weinberger, Secretary of Defense, and Vice-President Daniel Quayle and also sat in on Congressional committee meetings. P.C. students spent some time touring renown landmarks such as the Supreme Court, Jefferson Memorial, the Lincoln Memorial and the Smithsonian Museum. The Farewell Dinner Dance was a highlight where the students said good-bye to friends they would remember as partners in a great learning and exciting experience.

GREEN PRIDE WEEK

School turns green with pride
... by Liz Murphy

The student body of Westwood High School kicked off its Homecoming Week with a bang. Saturday night, the Halloween Dance and Mr. Westwood High contest proved a success. Over two-thirds of the school's population attended the dance where FA, "the greatest band on the planet" brought the crowd to its feet.

The students saw the school in a different light that following Monday - it was Sunglasses Day! The participation in color code day on Tuesday was impressive. The senior class, clad in black, looked like a "felony waiting to happen." The juniors, sophomores, and freshmen dressed respectively in blue, red and white, proudly displayed their spirit. On Wednesday, College Paraphernalia and Pajama Day, school spirit was evident when everywhere one looked, students were dressed accordingly. The following day brought in all kinds of hats - from baseball caps to sombreros.

The most successful day of them all, however, was Green Pride Day. Freshmen and seniors alike were decked out in the school colors. Later that day, at the pep rally, the Student Council honored those students who displayed exceptional participation and spirit throughout the week. Brendan Hanlon was awarded a prize for his consistent participation in the homecoming events, while Judy Fitzgerald and Sue Bogue were honored for their clever green-pride outfits. Next the Homecoming Court was announced; and after an impressive speech by Tri-Captain Brett Jacobsen, the student body, along with the Wolverine football team, anxiously awaited Saturday's game against Wayland and the formal presentation of the court. On that day, the Wolverines showed great pride and determination in their efforts against their arch-rival. A single field goal in the final minutes in the evenly-matched game proved to be the deciding factor in Wayland's victory. Homecoming week of 1989 came to a close.

LIP SYNC

Oldsmobile wins big at Lip Sync

A huge crowd gathered to cheer on the contestants at the first Lip Sync of the year. This activity was sponsored by the Class of 1990 and consisted of thirteen fabulous acts, which made for fierce competition. Hosted by Tom O'Leary and Marcus D'Espinosa, the show was a huge success and everyone did well. It was Oldsmobile by Kurt Johnson and John Lee, however, that ultimately came out on top, followed closely by Our Lips Are Sealed and Bust A Move. Congratulations to all who participated.

MR. WESTWOOD HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. W.H.S. contest draws crowd

Before the Halloween Dance held earlier this year, the Senior Class held the Mr. Westwood High School Contest. At first a lot of senior boys entered but then "chickened out"; however there were still plenty of contestants to pick from. Well, the judges finally crowned Tom O'Leary as Mr. Westwood High School! Special thanks to all who participated in this activity and especially to the staff for their help. A big thanks to the contestants.

HOMECOMING

Bevy of beauties presented

The Homecoming Court and Homecoming Game were the final activities of Green Pride Week. Homecoming Queen Michelle Suffredini, seniors Kelly Lowe and Pamela Snyder, junior Cheryl Suffredini, sophomore Sandra DiMartino, and freshman Christy Doyle looked lovely as they were presented at half-time with their escorts. The game, too, was exciting. Michael McFarlane, sophomore, made his debut that day, scoring two touchdowns! Westwood defeated Medfield with a score of 26-0 - a perfect ending to an exciting Green Pride Week!

SPEAKER OF THE YEAR

Governor's visit sponsored by SADD

Through the efforts of Mrs. Linda Hanlon and SADD, Governor Michael Dukakis paid an informal visit to WHS for the purpose of talking to students about drugs and alcohol. His message was a strong one and well-received by our students, as well as junior high students who were also in attendance. After his remarks, the governor willingly and enthusiastically answered questions directed by the students.

INTERNATIONAL SCENE

New friendships

Nineteen students and their teacher, Frau Vera Ritter, from Hardtburg Gymnasium, Meckenheim-Merl, a suburb of Bonn, West Germany, spent three weeks immersed in a cultural exchange program with WHS students. Organized by Miss H. Joan Dillon, German students and Westwood host students enjoyed classroom visits, field trips and social activities. One of the highlights of the German students' stay was a two day trip to New York City. In August, a group of Westwood High students will spend three weeks at Hardtburg experiencing the German way of life.

Thank you, Miss Dillon!

Something new this year was added to further the study of French and Spanish. One group of students spent three weeks in Spain and another group three weeks in France. The students lived with families, attended special language classes, and enjoyed sightseeing in major cities and surrounding countryside. They all came back more fluent in the language and certainly more knowledgeable of customs and traditions of France or Spain. Senora Hollis Perry accompanied the Spanish group and Monsieur Michael Milan the French group.

THE EIGHTIES

By Saro Iskenderian

As graduates of the Class of 1990, we mark the end of a decade which has seen much change, both positive and negative. It is only fitting that this class have an opportunity to reflect upon the past decade and its events, personalities, and trends. This is the function of the decade poll. This poll encompasses the 80's as we experienced it. It was during this decade that we matured from children into adults and when we look back at the 80's, we will undoubtedly remember the special events and people captured on these four pages.

H. W.! Sports! Friends!!!

J. Collins: The main difference between the high school and jr. high is that here you can think and say what you want without someone holding your hand.

K. Foster: The biggest difference between here and the jr. high is AGE! You go from being the oldest in school to being the youngest of four grades.

M. Foster: Here there is much more homework, but also much more freedom and things to do. More choices.

Vision over visibility.
So this is our last goodbye.
The one we're supposed to remember.
Forgive me for not being sad.
The future calls and that's all I can Hear right now.
And in the end I'll probably
Forget the bad,
Remember the good,
And confuse everything else.
And I'll write my own happy ending . . .
And that's the way it should be.
Goodbye.

Ignorance won't kill you, just make you burn in Hell.

Guess who's coming to Dinnah! Andre and Girth Paul, Sean, Toe, Phil, Coonie, Zorbett, Scat, Armand, Thtinky, Bud, Aaron, Mr. Carribean Vass Jerry & Marlene Jezis & the millionbillion VG's readers. Look who's not coming: rednecks Satan. Lately, I've become worried about Sean - he seems so normal that I wonder if he's really as screwed up as the rest of us. My only true desire is to be accepted by the larger segment of society. Many, Many years from now, people will remember the 80's as a decadent and materialistic era, only because they will have forgotten that the Factory was created in 1988. Long live the republic.

If it wasn't for those of us unafraid to be judged as strange by our peers, we'd still be living in caves. -Jello Biafra I was riding the bus home one day and we passed by a mailman on the side of the road. Seven kids began to yell "Hit him!" Then one said "No, don't! It's Sports Illustrated delivery day." But hey! It's party time, let's barbecue! Take warning, the generation's past; present and future are headed for self-destruction. The sad thing is, I'm an optimist. Anyway, from now on I'm going to spend every waking moment trying to be popular. Ill just hate anything different. Drink milk. PEZ.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

David Reissfelder
President

Peter Mao
Valedictorian

Welcome parents, students, faculty, and administration to the graduation of the Class of 1990. As I stand before my fellow members of the Class of 1990, I would like to begin by thanking them for allowing me to serve as Class President the past two years. While we sit here today awaiting commencement, we must realize that today is not only a day of tremendous joy, but also one of sadness. It is a time of rejoicing and congratulations, and a time to recognize the ending of our four year journey. The times we have shared together now become memories, but the friendships we have made can only grow stronger. We must now look to the future with both of these assets and move on.

As we prepare to leave WHS today, each of us should take the time to recognize the many accomplishments the Class of 1990 has achieved. Academically, athletically, and socially, our profile as a class is nothing short of outstanding. Academically, we have been praised as one of the best classes to come through this school system and our track record proves it. Ninety-three percent of the members of this class plan to continue school next year at either a four year, two year, technical, or prep school. Nineteen members of the class will attend colleges designated as among the most competitive in the country. We have two National Merit Scholar students and nine National Merit Commended Students. Eleven members of the class have successfully completed the Academic Distinction Programs, the most rigorous and challenging curricula the school offers, and forty-eight members of the class have earned the Presidential Academic Fitness Award. We also excelled athletically this year as a class. The Football and Swimming Teams both produced strong records while the Girls' Volleyball Team reached the state tournament semifinals. The Hockey Team won its 8th consecutive league championship and the Boys' Basketball Team reached the state tournament for the first time in five years. The Boys' Swim Team had its most successful season in 10 years while the Girls BB team left the 17 year TVL streak in tact. This spring, the Golf and Tennis Teams both reached the state tournament and the Track Team had its most successful season in recent memory. In terms of cooperation and teamwork, our class again stood out. This year, the leaders of the class organized dances, Lip Syncs, contests, and the first Spring Fling Week for the students. Our performance as a class produced several positive experiences in all facets of student life, and these accomplishments are something to be proud of.

As we look back on the last four years today, all of us have come to realize how many people have helped us. Parents, teachers, and coaches assisted us with college decisions, supported our athletic teams, and guided us through the good and the bad times. Groups of dedicated parents such as the WCIA and the Boosters have given us the chance to lose the drug and alcohol reputation we have been struggling with the past two years by offering various activities which include the All-Nite Graduation Party. Our coaches have helped us develop our work skills and supplied us with the drive always to improve. The teachers at WHS have also helped us tremendously. In fact, much of the success we have enjoyed, both in and out of the classroom can be directly attributed to the faculty. Who could forget Mr. Brown, a man who has served as a fine role model and friend to students over the years, and his grueling review sessions before the A.P. U.S. History test last year? Or how much the administration helped us with organization and supervision during Spring Fling Week? The faculty and administration at WHS are sometimes overlooked when we talk about the success of the Class of 1990. It would not have happened without them. The community, parents, and administration have all given us tremendous support throughout the last four years of our lives and I would like to ask the class to rise and give them a round of applause to show our appreciation.

Now I would like to address my classmates. We have spent the last four years at WHS learning about academics, friendships and life. Hopefully, the valuable lessons we have learned from each other and with each other will last a lifetime. What we have accomplished and experienced in WHS will carry us through the rest of our journey in life. The games we have won and lost on these fields, the times we have celebrated or cried, the times we have failed or excelled will forever be ours. Our years at Westwood were by no means easy, but the rewards of the time we have spent here have been plentiful. In leaving, I would like to quote from an anonymous source the following message to the Class of 1990:

"There is no thrill in easy sailing when the skies are clear and blue,
There is no joy in doing the things which anyone can do,
But there is some satisfaction that is mighty sweet to take,
When you reach a destination you thought you'd never make."

I would personally like to thank the Class of '90 for the best four years of my life. Always hold your head high and only good things can come your way. I wish each and every member of the Class of 1990 nothing but the best of luck in the years to come - Good Luck and God Bless.

CARWASH

Carwash washed out

It was a valiant attempt at fundraising, but unfortunately, the senior class car wash turned out to be a big flop. Although there was definitely a lack of interest, and the weather did not help much, the car washes were held every Saturday before home football games. Thank you to the few dedicated seniors who chose to help out. Special thanks to Mrs. Rosengarten, who despite many obstacles, managed to make this activity happen. Oh well, maybe next year's class will be able to bring in a little more business.

Business seems to be picking up a bit, but how long will it last?

Senior Anne Curley questions the apparent lack of business.

SENIOR CLASS BREAKFAST

The anticipation of an exciting morning of fabulous football action brought a sleepy-eyed senior class to the cafeteria early on a cold November day. This year's Senior Class Breakfast consisted of pancakes, ham, eggs, sausages milk, and various juices. The cafeteria was decorated in green and white, and the tables were set up in the form of a 90, of course. Thanks to Mrs. Tosca for her help with the decorations and to the cafeteria staff for the food. Too bad it couldn't help the boys win the game!

Scenes from the, uh, "anticipation" of breakfast to the real anticipation of the upcoming road to victory.

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL

Upset of the season

Girls Win Powder Puff Game

The cool, crisp November morning revealed nothing of the excitement that would soon rock the crowds at the WHS football field. For the first time in years, the girls pulled off a stunning victory over the boys in the annual senior Powder Puff Game. The four girls' teams—Bomber's Bodacious Babes, Kane's Wild Dames, Seka's Chicas, and Yuk's Delux, combined forces to create the winning combination of an unstoppable offense and a fabulous defense. It must have been those grueling Monday and Wednesday night matches with coaches Tom O'Leary, Mike Kane, Walter Boehl, and Brett Jacobsen that did the trick.

Eric Dreyer ponders the skill of the girls' team

The victorious girls attempt a cheerleading move- so they aren't quite as good as the boys, yet.

A few of the girls say "Hi Mom!"

And the winner is . . .

SENIOR BANQUET "THE BEST IS YET TO COME"

Banquet is a smashing success

This year's Senior Banquet was a huge success. The theme, "The Best is Yet to Come," seemed appropriate even though some of our earliest good times were shown to us in the slide show. With the help of Dave Reissfelder as our M.C. of entertainment, we enjoyed a few laughs over fond memories. Between reading the class history, the announcement of the long-awaited senior superlatives, and the "Novel Quest" team competition, the Class of 1990 had a spectacular time. Special thanks to Randy Miller, Jerry Neville, Joe Flaherty, and Ellen Larkin, who provided the entertainment for the night. Their scenes from "The Odd Couple" and "Plaza Suite" were hysterical.

SENIOR CLASS BEACH TRIP

Here comes the sun . . . not . . .

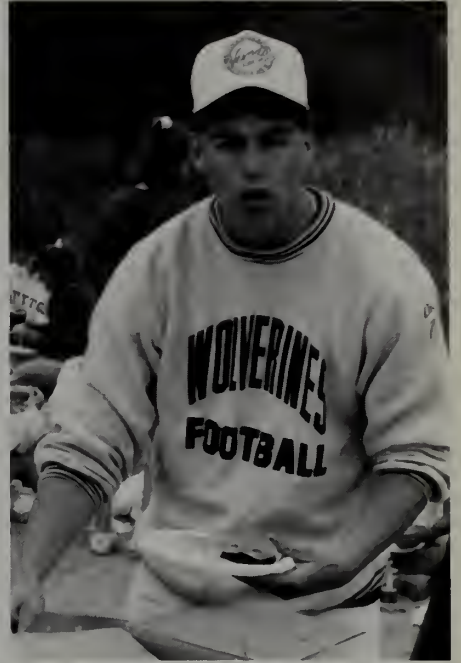

The Senior Class of '90 took off to Crane's Beach in Ipswich on a cool, overcast day. We were the only group on the beach! Although the weather did not meet our standards, we made the best of the afternoon with volleyball games, frisbee, and, of course, eating. The Class of '90 thanks all of the staff who chaperoned the trip.

"Gee, are you having a good time?" But of course. Can't you see the wonderful tan I am getting?

Many people were cold, others were bored, and yet others couldn't wait for the food to be served

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Oh, what a night!

The Junior-Senior Prom was held on May 18, 1990, at the Sheraton Tara Hotel in Braintree. Kara Cooney was chosen Prom Queen, and her deserving court was represented by seniors Adrienne DiPietro, Nanette Frieberger, Melissa Angelicchio, Zeina Dagher, and juniors Alicia Mullen, Robin Morrison, Dineen Wilson, and Suzanne McLaughlin. The Prom was definitely a night to remember. Thanks to the Junior class for such a memorable evening.

All set for the big night!!

Just taking a break from all that dancing!

Ooooooh, Vogue

The Queen and her court! L to R: Alicia Mullen, Robin Morrison, Dineen Wilson, Suzanne McLaughlin, Kara Cooney, Adrienne DiPietro, Nanette Frieberger, Missy Angelicchio, and Zeina Dagher.

May I have this dance??

1990 Junior-Senior Prom

Let the good times roll!

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Please . . no more dancing!!

The Vogue was the active dance on the dance floor.

Everybody seemed to enjoy themselves . .

Hey, Mr. D.J, you haven't played my request yet . . .

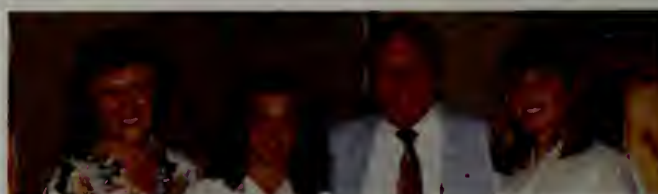

The great D.J provided some great fast dancing music as well as some romantic slow songs

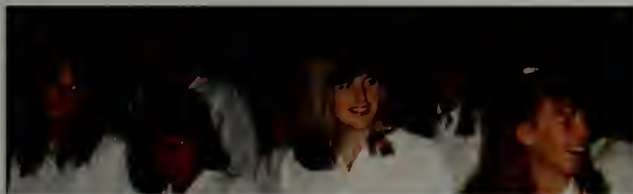

CLASS DAY 1990

Awards, Awards, Awards!

Class Day 1990 was held on a beautiful June morning. Academic, athletic, and special service awards were given out to deserving students. Events included the reading of the class poem by Michael Collins and of the class history by Liz Murphy and Saro Iskenderian. The 1990 Green Years dedication to the worthy Mr. Thomas Brown served as the climax of the day's ceremony. After all was done, seniors and their parents enjoyed lunch in the festively decorated cafeteria.

GRADUATION

The Class of '90 moves on!

June 3, 1990— Graduation!! The Class of '90 was all prepared to enjoy the graduation exercises outside on the school football field; that is, until the wind started blowing. The Class of '90 celebrated the graduation exercises inside the gym because of the threatening skies and the unbelievable wind. This was our day - finally! After all the hard work and the long tiring four years, we had achieved our goal. Graduation was a day of mixed emotions; on one hand this was a day of happiness and anticipation for our bright futures; on the other hand, this was a day of sadness, for this day would be the last time Class of 1990 would be together as one. Good Luck, Class of 1990!!!!

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF 1990

We, the members of the Class of 1990 of Westwood High School, Westwood, Massachusetts, county of Norfolk, make this will and revoke all previous wills and codicils.

FIRST

We leave to the Class of 1991 all those college applications and interviews and a year of "sanity" and reckless living.

SECOND

We leave to the Class of 1992 the Junior/Senior Prom and their new identity of being upperclassmen.

THIRD

We leave to the Class of 1993 to their own sophomoric behavior.

FOURTH

We leave to the Class of 1994 a handbook detailing proper behavior and specific instructions for getting off to a great start at WHS.

FIFTH

We nominate PHILLIP F. FLAHERTY, principal of Westwood High School, executor of this will. We have signed and sealed this will on the third day of June, 1990.

I, Saro Iskenderian, leave to John Lane, G Block singing with Mr. Fischler and to my sister Laura all the luck in the world.

CLASS HISTORY

Freshman Year

On September, 1986, we arrived to Westwood High School with anticipation and anxiety as freshmen. We knew it would be quite different from our glory days at the Jr. High. It was great, yet humbling, step in our lives. No longer were we the big kids - now we were the lowest of low! It took many of us weeks to figure out where our classes were - and the "help" which the upper classmen gave us made us more confused and lost than ever. Because of these tardy and sometimes total absences, we became familiar with Westwood High School's renowned referral system. We settled in, though. Led by class officers, Jamie McMillin, Laura Christian, Nicole Caruso and Dave Sceppa, the Class of 1990 began to impact Westwood High School in so many ways. As athletes we certainly stood out - Walter Boehl, Chris Ruggiero, Greg Dixon, Amy Friedman and Liz Murphy started on winning Varsity teams their Freshman year, while several other athletes earned their spots on J.V. teams. With respect to school spirit, we stood out also. How could we forget all the money we made from that successful (?) magazine drive freshman year! Even though we settled in the scheme of things at Westwood High School, we still remained intimidated by the upper classmen - and how could we have avoided it? Freshmen athletes were forced to put the nets up, clean up the locker rooms, and who could forget "slave days" or the hockey team's shaved heads? The year seemed dragged-on, but spring and our introduction to real finals inevitably came - but we survived! We ended our first year at WHS with our class beach trip to Horseneck Beach, and we looked forward to our new status as Sophomores.

We entered WHS in the fall of '87 eager to 'communicate and associate with the upperclassmen. However, to our surprise, although we were now sophomores, our status had not changed much since freshman year. Indeed, some of us were accepted by the juniors and seniors; but the senior girls did not always wish to pay recognition to our sophomore class- well except maybe to Walter and Brett.

Our favorite Friday night question "Mom, will you please drive me to so and so's house?" seems only like a shadowy memory to us now, but then it was reality- and, of course, if we didn't find a ride we usually paraded around the town or hung out at the "Buck." Our social events did escalate during our sophomore year. Do you recall the "I survived Collins' '87" printed on the back of t-shirts which circulated in the high school. Yes, as sophomores we made nationwide headlines for our reckless attitudes and alcohol problems- but I bet we could all agree that all these events which occurred during our sophomore year were blown out of proportion. The fear of horrible accidents occurring in the town due to drinking encouraged the school to implement the first Safe Rides Program which was successful.

Academically, we experienced the freedom associated with free blocks and usually we either got an extra bite to eat in the caf or studied in the library. Studying indeed, for we suffered through Mrs. Kelsch's required oral English class, as well as through health education. Guided by President Kristen Keller, and her associates Pete Mao, Jean Kerrigan, and Jennifer Hatch, we challenged ourselves with difficult curricula. Mr. Case opened AP European History to us sophomores, and all those who participated in the class discovered the challenges of college. But college was still too far in the distance for us to really consider.

The annual homecoming weeks approached us early in the year and Sue Bogue represented our class during the intermission of the homecoming game. Although the week, which included Hat Day, Clash Day, Pajama Day, and, of course, Green Pride Day was successful the boys did not defeat Holliston at the Thanksgiving Day game. Other sports, nevertheless, shined during our sophomore year. Girls' Volleyball headed to the state sectionals while the hockey team lost their last tournament game to the eventual state champions. Baseball, also enjoyed a winning season. With Brian, Brett, and Tom representing our class on the team, varsity earned the South Eastern division title for the first time since 1963. Also, the Girls' Basketball Team continued their 14 year regular-season winning streak. Moreover, the Marching Band contributed to the great success of the extra curriculum activities.

As the year concluded, and the seniors left the high school, we felt pressured for time. Our final exams were rolling around, but we were willing to suffer through them because as a consolation prize we would be returning to school with a new upperclassman rank in the fall.

- Paula Yphantos

The summer of '88 came to an abrupt end and before we knew it we were strutting through the halls as upperclassmen. All of us knew this would be our most academically challenging year, yet we were ready to meet the challenge; well, at least most of us. Under the competent leadership of our class officers: Dave Reissfelder, Pres.; Kristen Keller, V-P.; Adrienne Marani, Sec.; and Roger Hughes, Treas, we were prepared for the new responsibilities and freedoms that came with being juniors.

The embarrassment of arriving to school in one of those huge yellow buses had faded. Most of us were newly licensed and actually looked forward to cruising to school in our cars. In the winter, we entertained ourselves in the parking lot by hurling snowballs at each other and spinning our wheels in the inch-deep snow. Although we had a good time, we were well aware of the dangers of drinking and driving and continued the school's Safe Rides program which guaranteed transportation to all who exceeded their limit.

Junior year was an academic nightmare that went beyond our worst expectations. We were bombarded by PSAT's, SAT's, Achievement Tests, and the dreaded AP exams, thinking that if we failed we would never make it into the university of our dreams and would therefore, be denied a successful future. But the persistence of the teachers, kept us ready for whatever surprises the tests might have in store for us.

Athletically, the school experienced one of its most successful years and as upperclassmen we played a vital role. We supported our school and demonstrated our spirit by attending games and cheering on the Wolverines. The football team was undefeated and went on to become the Superbowl champs, beating Archbishop Williams by a score of 13 to 0. Several other fall sports had a good season as well. The Girls' Soccer Team earned a position in the tournament, the volleyball team ranked second in the TVL, and the field hockey team had its best season ever. In the winter, girls' basketball was successful as usual, winning its 17th straight TVL title and progressing to the South Sectional finals. The hockey team also carried on its winning tradition by capturing its sixth TVL title in a row. Westwood continued to win throughout the spring season. Both boys' and girls' tennis established excellent records, placing second and first in the TVL respectively.

Involvement in extracurricular activities made this year memorable. Who could ever forget the appearance of KISS (Jack Thornton, Tom Bean, Tom Brady, and Craig Dalrymple) at our lip-sync? And in the real music world, our Marching Band ranked third in New England. The Drama Club also had a very successful year, producing two After Dinner Theaters and a spring musical, "The Boyfriend." Although we regretted not having a representative in the Homecoming Court, we had a lot of fun participating in the Homecoming Week days . . . Hat Day, Pajama Day, Clash Day, and Green Pride Day.

This year we experimented with several new activities such as a Bonfire/Rally/Dance which was held in the center of the baseball field. We also tried out a Winter Carnival which included events ranging from a volleyball tournament to a Club MTV dance.

The prom was an unforgettable occasion for all those who chose to attend. Ann Curley, Michelle Suffredini, Kristen Keller, and Katina Muir represented our class in the queen's court. After dancing to the last song of the night, the year's theme, "Don't You Forget About Me," we hopped in our limos to continue the celebration. Early in the morning we headed for our weekend's destination. Many of us followed tradition and took off for the Cape while others escaped to New Hampshire for a weekend of fun in the sun.

As the year came to a close, the exhausting heat struck some of us with spring fever. We struggled to continue our studies and began the search through the infamous college guides in the hope of finding the perfect school. With the dismissal of the senior class, we found ourselves in charge of the school and prepared to become next year's seniors.

To cap off the year, Westwood Mentors sponsored a whitewater rafting trip to Maine's Kennebec River. It was an adventure that the participants will never forget. We returned to Westwood and joined those who were already prepared for their final exams. Although the school did not organize a junior class beach trip, we made the best of it with arrangements for our own trip to Hampton Beach. The summer was finally here. We had made it through our most difficult year and were ready to enjoy our well-deserved vacation.

Senior Year

Who could believe nine months ago when we entered the school as seniors that three years at Westwood High School had already passed. Led by class officers Dave, Kris, Liz, and Roger, we began the year with enthusiasm. We anticipated coasting through our final year at Westwood High School, yet fall and early winter shattered those delusions when we were bombarded with required achievement tests, SAT's, and college applications. All the while, rumors circulated that colleges stressed first semester senior year grades, and we continued to work hard at our studies. We did, however, manage to have some autumn fun as seniors. The Senior Class Breakfast and Powder Puff game were both successful events. Bomber's Bodacious Babes, Yux's Deluxe, Seka's Chicas, and Kane's Wild Dames beat the boys in a dramatic style with Meg Winslow scoring with one second left on the infamous "bootleg right" play. The officials also figured in as key players for the girls. Homecoming Week soon followed, and as seniors, we showed off our school spirit proudly. The lovely Michelle Suffredini was crowned Homecoming Queen with Pam Snyder and Kelly Lowe as senior court representatives.

Our fall athletic teams all produced respectable records. The football and volleyball teams played particularly well this year. Both the Boys' Hockey Team and the Girls' Basketball Team were Tri-Valley league champions once again, while the Boys' Basketball Team, with a little help from coach Stephan and the "dawg pound," had their best season in years. Before we realized it, it was time once again for midyear exams and we gave our last genuine academic push before "senioritis" set in.

Student activities and organizations were very active this year. The Student Advisory Board sponsored a successful relief campaign for a South Carolina high school which was severely damaged by a terrible hurricane earlier this year while the Student Council introduced a recycling campaign to Westwood High. Other groups such as SADD, Key Club, Mentors, and the newly formed Amnesty International had positive impacts on the community as well. Spring Fling Week allowed students to participate in a fun-filled week which included a lip sync, a dance, a pool party, and a volleyball tournament, all the while competing for points on one of three color war teams.

The winter snow—which, for the second year in a row, never resulted in a school cancellation—melted; and all too soon, we realized that it was spring. Our days at Westwood High School were numbered. We were faced with mixed emotions. Though we felt it was time for us to face the real world, we were also somewhat anxious as to what the future held for us. Nevertheless, we were going to finish the year with a bang. We had fun at the Senior Banquet and laughed at both the baby picture slide show and at Dr. Gearon. Our Junior/Senior Prom was held at the Sheraton Tara Hotel in Braintree and those who attended watched Kara Coony be crowned Prom Queen with her court of Missy Angelicchio, Zenia Dagher, Nanette Freiberger, and Adrienne DiPietro at her side. The next day we hit the beaches in hopes of catching a few rays of sunshine that spring had for us. But nothing could rain on our parade this year. We were successful in everything: academics, athletics, music, and social activities. Our senior class and high school memories are certainly special. Photos, videotapes, and class histories are ways which we can preserve these memories, but we must always have a place in our heart for these years. Though we are moving into a new and exciting phase of our lives, the fun, the friends, the heartache of growing up, and the triumph of success will remain in the facets of our minds forever. Good Luck and Goodbye, Class of 1990.

- Liz Murphy

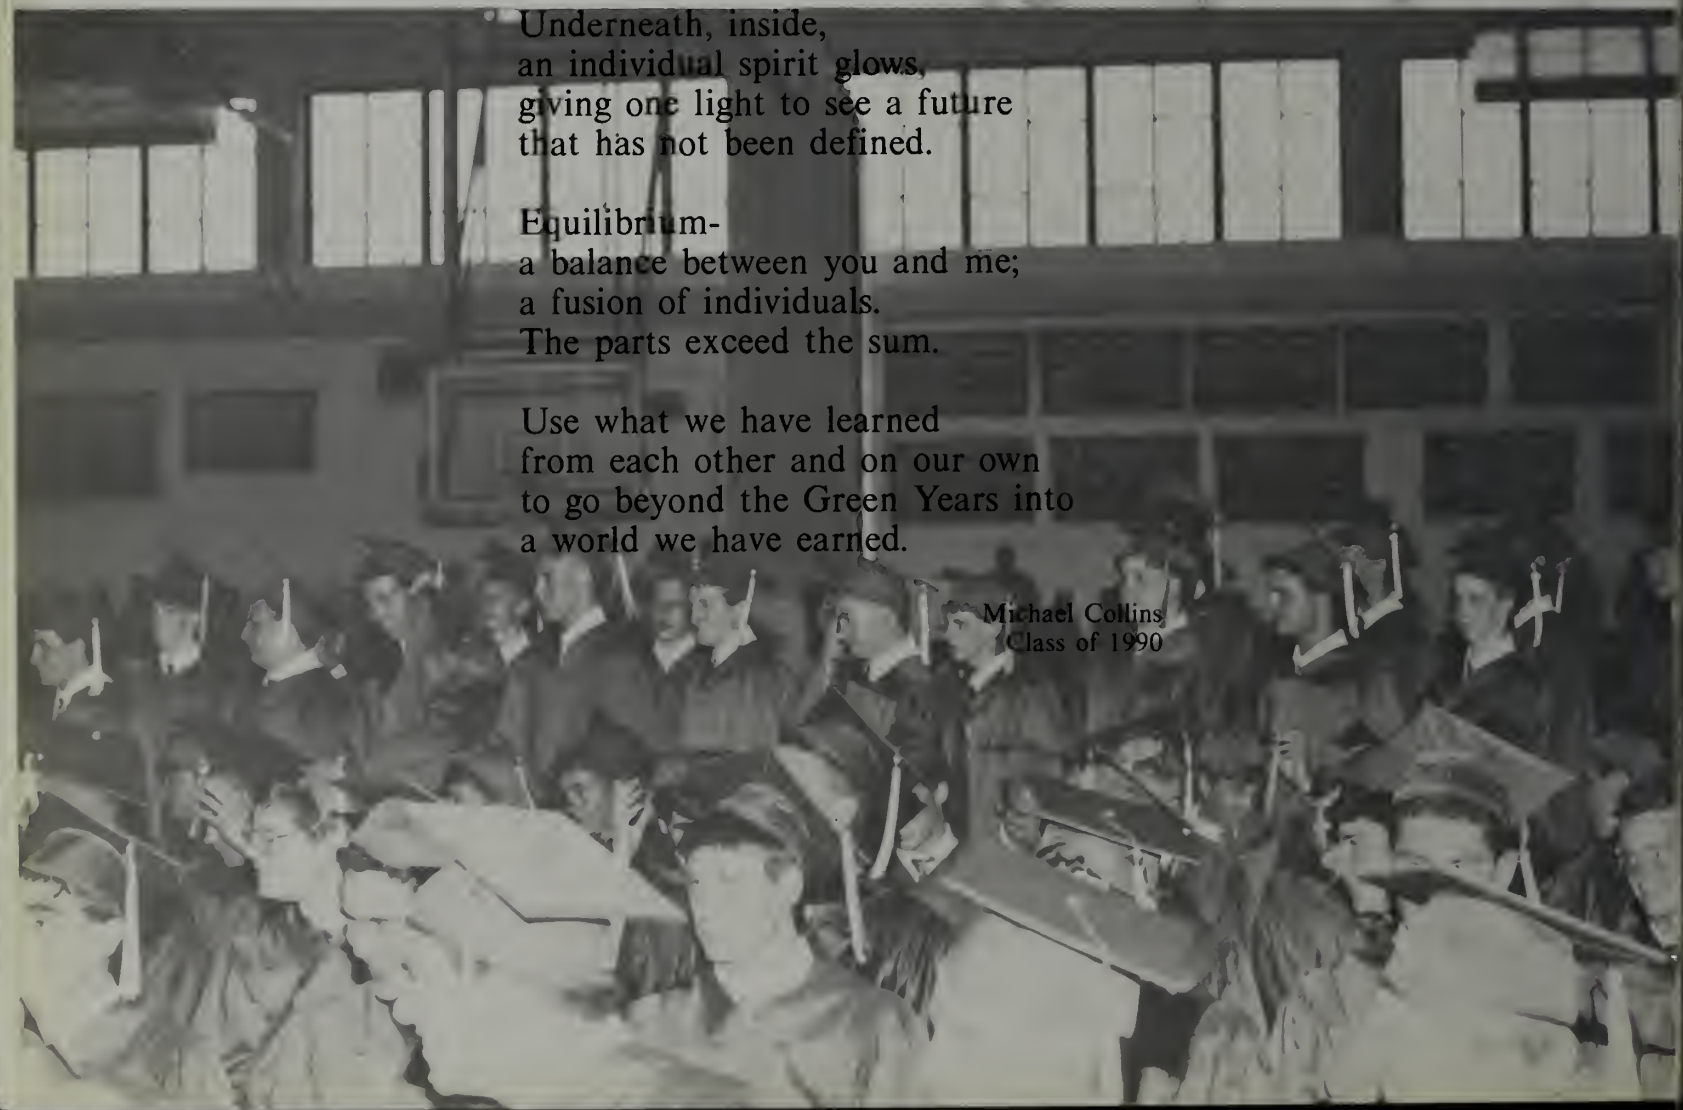

Equilibrium

Lined up, row-by-row,
we sit here draped in Green and White,
capped and packaged very neatly,
choreographed like a show.

Underneath, inside,
we tremble with excitement and anxiety,
remembering the wonder years;
wondering what we'll find.

Lined up, row-by-row,
today we are together as one.
We laugh, cry, say goodbye as one.
Class spirit moves towards tomorrow.

Underneath, inside,
an individual spirit glows,
giving one light to see a future
that has not been defined.

Equilibrium-
a balance between you and me;
a fusion of individuals.
The parts exceed the sum.

Use what we have learned from each other and on our own to go beyond the Green Years into a world we have earned.

Laura Lopez

Who would have been a member of the
Class of 1990
August 1972 - September 1984
With fond memory,
Her classmates

With relish

Laura Lopez, a first-grader at the Deerfield School, Westwood, is shown spoonfull of homemade cranberry and orange relish into glass containers. Each student took home some relish ground in class for the holiday. (Fitzgerald Staff Photographer) NOV. 1979

TO SPEND ETERNITY

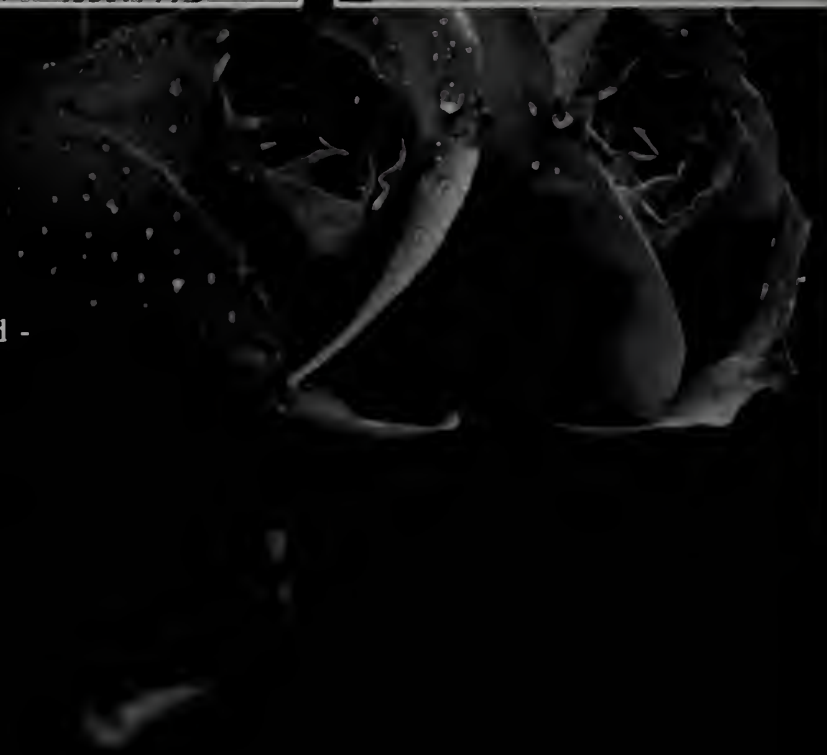

Why hast Thou taken her, my Lord,
Before she's lived life through? -
So full of life — and rushing toward -
With so much left to do?

Please watch and keep her; hold her hand -
Her love will never fade;
Like sunlight on the golden sand,
Or peaceful, cooling shade.

A smile that made the world go 'round;
A heart as pure as gold,
And laughter was a precious sound
As happiness she'd hold.

A daughter, sister, — loving friend
Who answered every call;
Who loved and cared, and gave again;
Who stooped and yet stood tall.

Beyond our sight — behind the mist,
She waits, a-las, with Thee
And we shall join her in our time
To spend Eternity.

In Memory Of Miss Judith A. Bolles

To honor the memory of Miss Judith A. Bolles
teacher of Mathematics,
coach, friend, confidante,
and advisor to the students of Westwood High School.

Judy

Of all the tasks that can fall to a person, perhaps the most difficult is the attempt, in the midst of personal sorrow, to speak of the life of a departed friend and loved one. And yet, it is a thing which should be done. Someone must recall, with all who feel a like sorrow, the moments of trial, caring and laughter which make up our recollection.

I find my own thoughts at this time go back to our days as teachers - the time when I first met Judy and, very shortly afterward, began working very closely with her as we were both advisors to the senior class. She was the personification of the teacher. A great mastery of her subject, a quick and flashing wit, a sure sense of the incongruous, the energy of the athlete she was, and a great love for her students . . . these things were Judy. I have a vivid memory of a class trip in which one of our exchange students saw to it that Judy never had a chance to get dry, due to her repeated immersion in the pool. I can still see the brightness of that Spring day long ago. I can remember also, when a student became ill on a subsequent trip, that it was Judy who volunteered to go to the hospital with her, and who eventually brought her home, and, after an all-night vigil, taught her classes the following day. I think many of you can also remember Judy in that way.

Every one of her students was a definite individual, to be known and taught as such. She worked with them, worried about their progress, and agonized over many of their personal problems. It is no exaggeration to say that scores of people, many of whom are present today, had their lives changed for the better for having known her.

As time went on, Judy found other ways to serve the school and its students. For many years she advised the student council, keeping it always in a constructive posture at a time when disruption was, in many other places, the norm. Realizing that our Class Day ceremony had lost its relevance, she undertook to design the present ceremony, one of the high points of our year. She saw to it personally that every deserving student was recognized. (She was not above inventing an award when necessary.) For these, and many other contributions, the school will be eternally grateful.

And what of us, those who knew and loved her, and who remain? Surely we must surmount our sorrow and express our thanks. It is certain that the only lasting monuments most of us can leave on this earth are the values and feelings we have left in the minds and hearts of those whom we knew. A teacher, of course, had an unique opportunity in this regard, not only in teaching her students, but also in the daily give and take with her colleagues. There is no one among her colleagues and close friends who could not recall crises lessened by her wit, sorrow softened by her concern, and burdens lightened by her help. These memories will stay with us as long as we are able to remember, and will help us still in times of trouble.

Longfellow also commented, in his consideration of famous men, on what it was that we can leave here when we depart. In our sorrow we can find joy in that Judy has left behind not only a teacher's deep footprints on the sands of time, but an echo of laughter and, for her family and for you, Dick, the remembrance of love.

A tribute to Judy from Charlote & Ed Baker
To the living, I am gone.
To the sorrowful, I will never return.
To the angry, I was cheated.

But to the happy, I am at peace.
And to the faithful, I have never left.

I cannot speak, but I can listen.
I cannot be seen, but I can be heard.

So as you stand upon a shore,
Gazing at a beautiful sea - - - -

Remember me.

As you look in awe at a mighty
Forest and its grand majesty - - - -

Remember me.

As you look upon a flower
And admire its simplicity - - - -

Remember me.

Remember me in your heart, your thoughts,
And your memories - - - - of the times we loved - the times we fought - the times we laughed - the times we cried - the times we travelled - the many good times we shared -

But most of all - dear colleagues, dear students - - - -
My dedication and love of the times I taught.

Whatever we were to each other,
That we are still.

For if you always think of me.
I will never be gone.

Remember me.
